CHICAGO, Jan. 21.—A death verdict for Martin J. Durkin, slayer of two officers, jailed here today after his capture in St. Louis yesterday, will be the demand of the prosecution.

State's Attorney Crowe indicated that the case would be demanded first for the slaying of Edward C.
Shanahan, Federal agent, who sought to arrest Durkin for an automobile theft, and was shot to death. Then, no matter what verdict is returned, the prosecution intends to send Durkin to trial for murder in the case of Harry Gray, police detective, slain when Durkin eluded a police trap. The prosecution hopes to bring Durkin to trial by March 1.

Durkin is under indictment for murder in both instances, but denies he shot Gray. He maintains other officers killed Gray, as they did Lloyd Austin, in whose home
the trap was set.

Meanwhile Durkin's attorney sought to have him removed from an outlying police station to the county jail. At the police station usual precautions were taken.
Durkin was placed in a special cell and four heavily armed detectives were stationed outside.

Durkin has said that he always saved a pistol bullet for himself, and the meager breakfast given him this morning was examined carefully to prevent poison from being smuggled to him.

Tries to Escape on Train.
Durkin made one last desperate effort yesterday to escape the capture who heamed station in enroute from St. Louis to Chicago.
Despite the shackles on wrists and ankles, he reached around his wife and sought to grab a guard's pistol.
But an agent seized his wrist and the attempt failed.

After that he manifested slight concern. His first query on his arrest here was for his lawyer. His negatives were reported making an effort to obtain Clarence Darrow, noted criminal attorney, to defend him.

Through the night prosecutors questioned him, his wife, Irma, daughter of Bert Sullivan, village blacksmith of Cornell, Ill.; his cousin, Harriet Gallo of Brooklyn, and Betty Werner, Durkin's former sweetheart, for en route from Chicago Durkin dared the police trap set at her uncle's house.
From their answers the State's attorneys pieced together the story of his flight.

His Wife's Story.
Then Irma and her parents took up the narrative. She met him two years ago at a Chicago municipal beach. They corresponded, Durkin representing himself as Bert Conley, a bond salesman.

On Dec. 3 he came in a big blue sedan to Cornell and the next day they eloped to East St. Louis, Durkin giving his name as James Durkin in obtaining the license.

Durkin told the rest. With Irma, who knew he was Durkin, the hunted gunman, within a few days after their marriage, he went to Los Angeles, with Federal agents not far behind. He stole an automobile in Los Angeles, boldly driving it out of a saleroom. The Federal agents learned of the theft and surmised he would come east.

The fugitive, his wife and a police dog drove into Peecos, Tex., last Sunday. A Sheriff there stopped them, but a California autostar and a girl story of being on a hunting trip to account for the weapons in the machine, won them freedom and a letter to other Texas officers to extend their courtesies.

Turns Toward Mexico.
Durkin sensed danger and turned his flight toward Mexico. But a burned-out bearing forced him to abandon the automobile near Gir-

JURY GIVES YOUTH THIRTY YEARS FOR STABBING OF GIRL

Arthur Rose, Convicted of Second Degree Murder of Alice Walters, Hears Fate Impassively.

HE CRIES, "I HOPE
YOU ARE SATISFIED"

State Had Demanded Death Penalty for Killing That Followed Drinking Party at Roadhouse.

Arthur Rose is back in the City Jail today facing a 30-year prison sentence for the murder of his 15-year-old sweetheart, Alice Walters, whom he stabbed to death with a pocket knife last April while he was drunk.

During the 50 minutes of deliberation yesterday afternoon, the jury was not his guilt or innocence. The jurors agreed that he was guilty, and their discussion centered on the punishment. Finally they compromised on 30 years in the penitentiary, and at 4:40 p. m. took into Judge Landwehr's court a verdict of guilty of second degree murder.

Rose heard the verdict without evident emotion. But when a Deputy Sheriff walked towards him to conduct him to his cell, he turned suddenly to Miss Walters' widowed mother, Mrs. Anna Walters, and shouted:

"I hope you're satisfied. I did my duty."

Damaging Testimony.
Rose, who is 24 years old, fought in vain against a mass of testimony during two days of trial. After Miss Coral Lyman, of 4438 McPherson avenue, had testified that he stabbed Miss Walters as she sat on his lap in a crowded Ford coupe, after a petty quarrel in a county roadhouse, and four police officers told of taking his confession, the defendant took the stand to make a defiant denial and insist his memory had failed him utterly in the circumstances surrounding the murder.

In instructions, Judge Landwehr empowered the jury to choose between conviction for first or second degree murder, with from 10 years to life in prison, death or acquittal. He told them it was immaterial whether the defendant was intoxicated or sober when the crime was committed. Circuit Attorney Siderer, in argument, demanded the death penalty.

Mrs. Walters sat through the long sessions with keen interest as the evidence piled up against Rose. She wept frequently, and occasionally sobbed on the shoulder of a friend. The defendant's widowed mother, Mrs. Anna Rose, 75, also was in court, but when arguments began yesterday she was taken to the corridor by friends, where she waited until the verdict was returned.

Testimony ended after Siderer called Mrs. Walters to the stand, where she denied her daughter had been engaged to Rose and asserted she had ordered him to "stay away."

Tells of Return Home.

She told how he came to her home, at 2923 Ashland avenue, in a taxicab, at 4:30 a. m., April 5, told her "Alice is hurt," and took her to his home at 3218A Knapp street, where she found her daughter dead. Several witnesses had related how Rose, John C. Grewe and Miss Lyman had taken the injured girl to a saloon at Spring and Cottage avenues, where they tried to dress her wound, and then brought her to Rose's home. Grewe did not testify in the case, Deputy Sheriffs reporting they were told he left the city last June.

Immediately before Mrs. Walters' testimony, Siderer had called Edwin Straube, Rose's last employer in a battery shop at Grand boulevard and Natural Bridge avenue, in rebuttal of the defendant's declaration that he at no time admitted he killed Miss Walters.

Straube said he visited Rose in his cell at North Market Street Police Station at noon of the day following the murder. He and two other friends of the young man had decided to go and find out what the trouble was, he said.

Said "Give Me the Rope."
"I asked him, 'What did you do, Art?' Straube testified, 'and he replied, 'I don't know. I did it. Give me the rope. I want to get over with this thing as quickly as possible.'"

On the stand, Rose had denied that statement. "If I said it, I hope they do hang me," he declared defiantly. "I never thought of such thing. I don't see how I could have done it." He had drunk so much gin and whiskey, he said, that "everything was round and round" as soon as Grewe's machine started, and he maintained he could remember nothing until the machine stopped at the Cottage avenue saloon and he realized Miss Walters was bleeding.

FRISCO NEGOTIATING FOR M-K-T RAILROAD

Matter to Be Taken Up at Special Board Meeting, Wall Street Hears.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—The Executive Committee of the St. Louis-San Francisco Railroad, which has been meeting in special session for the last two days, is negotiating for control of the Missouri-Kansas-Texas Railroad, it was reported in Wall Street today.

Beyond stating that a special meeting of Frisco directors has been called for tomorrow, Chairman E. N. Brown of the Frisco Railroad, has declined all information as to the negotiations now under way.

A large interest in the "Katy" was acquired by the Kansas City Southern some time ago as part of a plan of L. P. Love, for a gigantic merger of Southwestern roads. The entrance of the Kansas City Southern into the "Katy" was opposed at the time by Speyer & Co. and J. and W. Seligman & Co., bankers, who reorganized the "Katy" Railroad and are also bankers for the St. Louis-San Francisco.

The tentative plan of the Interstate Commerce Commission for the consolidation of the railroads of the country, made public on Aug. 3, 1921, grouped the Frisco, the St. Louis-Southwestern, the Chicago & Alton and the "Katy" into one system.

Officers of the Roads Here Without News of Reported Deal.

J. M. Kurn, president of the Frisco, is in New York today and no one at his office here knew of the negotiations being undertaken by the Executive Committee, Charles E. Schaft, president of the M-K-T, could not be reached for a statement, but an assistant said no news of the reported deal had reached the offices of the Katy here.

Hearings on Bill for Consolidation of Railroads Opens.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—Hearings on the Cummins bill for the consolidation of the nation's railroads into a limited number of great competitive systems were opened today before the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee.

Senator Cummins (Rep.), Iowa, declared the railroads could not be operated under private ownership with rates as low as ought to prevail without comprehensive consolidation. Such consolidation, he said, would result in tremendous economies. The measure would give the railroads three years in which to take voluntary steps to consolidate, and the Interstate Commerce Commission after that period would be authorized to complete the consolidation necessary. Cummins declared that under existing conditions 65,000 or 70,000 miles of railroad soon will have to be discontinued. To prevent this and guarantee proper development, he said, there must either be consolidation or Government operation. The latter he opposed as likely to lead to "a calamity."

GAS TANK BUILDER ATTACKED

Fifteen men, riding in four taxicabs, visited a gas tank in course of construction at Shrewsbury on the southwest border of St. Louis at noon today and attempted to attack Matthew Miller, who is supervising its construction for the St. Louis County Gas Co. He fired a shot at the men and they fled to the cabs and escaped. Miller, who said he believed he had hit one of the men, was unable to account for the attack. He has had no labor trouble he said.

STAGE STAR'S PET CAT X-RAYED FOR SINUSITIS

Erstwhile Alley Prowler Found by Sibylla Bowhan Has Expensive Disease.

"Uukie" is a cat with a past. While most of her kind limit their roving to ashen explorations or nightly errands in answer to somewhat raucous calls of romance, Uukie has visited nine cities in the last year, with a trip to the Pacific Coast in immediate prospect. She has been the constant companion of Miss Sibylla Bowhan, who is appearing in a production at a St. Louis theater this week, since Miss Bowhan was a very little girl. And yesterday she—Uukie—was X-rayed for a sinus operation.

"A very remarkable cat," says Miss Bowhan. "Fifteen years old, has 18 children and still retains her figure—Uukie, got off that table! And she leaps beautifully, considering how ill she was."

For Uukie, humble as was her origin, could shame the most aristocratic and fragile of Angoras with her list of illnesses. Not in length, perhaps, but in sheer variety. "Take holdiness, for example. What ordinary cat would be bald? Uukie was bald. Not only that, but she has sinus trouble, which calls for an X-ray and an operation, with anesthesia, nurses, convalescence and everything.

Found in an Ash Can.

Uukie, of undetermined origin, was found in an ash can, back of Miss Bowhan's New York home. Miss Bowhan adopted the foundling. Miss Bowhan's father said thus and so. Uukie ran and hid, and Miss Bowhan wanted to run and hide.

Miss Bowhan's New York home had been invaded by mice, or at least rumors of mice. Miss Bowhan's father in time began to notice a dearth of mice, or of rumors thereof, and it was no longer necessary for Uukie to run and hide.

The fact was that Uukie seemed to have lost her hair. Other members of the company accused Miss Bowhan of carrying a dead cat. The next engagement was St. Louis. Dr. F. W. Shaffer, veterinarian, was in St. Louis. He diagnosed the case as malnutrition and general debility, took the pet into his hospital, and put her on a diet. When the company left here three weeks later, a little fuzz was beginning to show, and soon Uukie was again the softly furrowed pride of the company.

Appetite Regained.

Uukie had regained her appetite for lobster, steak and pink salmon, never white salmon. But Uukie still "uuked," as of old, and in smoky Pittsburgh she could scarcely breathe at all. Hence the X-ray and the operation. If it is successful, she will "uuk" no longer. That may require a new name for her, probably "Luxury" or "Expense," said Miss Bowhan. "After I pay for a drawing room to Denver and the Coast on her account, I'll probably have to put myself in pawn for a while."

DEFENSE HEARD IN U. S. INCOME TAX EVASION CASE

Sam Goldberg Testifies Bonds, Interest on Which He Failed to Report, Are Property of Wife.

Sam Goldberg, furniture dealer, of 5901 Waterman avenue, today testified in his trial on a charge of evading the income tax, that $59,000 of industrial bonds, interest from which he did not include in his report of 1923 income, belonged to his wife.

A bond salesman's card, on the back of which a memorandum had been made, stating that Mrs. Elita Goldberg was owner of the bonds, was shown by Goldberg. The bond salesman, one of the supposed witnesses to the memorandum, said he had no recollection of having written his name, but that the writing appeared to be his. Another supposed witness was not located, though a subpoena was issued.

Tells of Disposal of Interest.
Goldberg testified that he received the interest on the bonds, but deposited it in a joint account, on which his wife had power to check. He said he did not know whether she made a separate income tax return.

Internal revenue agent, who first investigated the case, his inquiry resulting in the charge that Goldberg evaded the tax both in 1922 and 1923. Befan, testifying yesterday, was the first witness in this, the first prosecution in this district for income tax evasion.

The revenue agent said Goldberg at first declared the bonds in question had been purchased by his wife with her money, but that when, during his investigation, he found papers in Goldberg's possession showing the bonds were billed to him by the brokerage concern from which they were purchased, the furniture dealer admitted they were his.

Quoted as Saying He Was Fool.

"I was a fool to listen to that bond salesman who said the Government had no way of checking up the interest on the bonds," Befan said Goldberg declared to him. The Government will attempt to show that Goldberg in 1920 and 1921 drew checks for large sums on his furniture business at 1432 Franklin avenue, in favor of himself and his son, Louis, which were charged on the books to advertising and purchases of merchandise and which later were used to buy certificates of deposits in the Jefferson Bank.

While the Government could not prosecute Goldberg for these transactions because of the statute of limitations, evidence concerning them will be offered to show Goldberg's alleged intent to defraud the Government in those and succeeding years.

His Statements of Income.

Goldberg's statements of income to the authorities were $5951.59 in 1922 and $11,553.37 in the following year. It is charged these figures greatly exceeded these figures. Assistant United States Attorney Harlan said Goldberg had defrauded the Government of approximately $20,000 during the years 1920-1921-1922 and 1923 and that it was likely civil suits to recover the amount would be instituted following the disposition of the criminal charge now being tried.

The offense charged is a misdemeanor, and the punishment, on conviction, may be a fine up to $10,000, or a jail term up to one year, or both.

BILLS TO REPEAL RACE TRACK BETTING IN KENTUCKY BEATEN

House and Senate Refuse First Readings—Hearing on Injunction in Maryland.
FRANKFORT, Ky., Jan. 21.—Efforts to repeal the State law permitting race-track betting under the pari-mutual system in Kentucky failed in both houses of the General Assembly today. The House voted, 51 to 41, and the Senate, 25 to 10, to refuse first readings in such bills.

BALTIMORE, Jan. 21.—Hearing on an injunction to stop race-track betting in Maryland, sought by Robert M. Williams of Washington and New York, opened today in United States Circuit Court before Judge Soper. The injunction petition alleges that the Burke law of 1920, under which the present system of racing, with pari-mutual machines, is conducted in Maryland, is unconstitutional. The law also is invalid, the petition alleges, as tending to destroy the "health and comfort" of Maryland citizens. Describing Williams as a "cosmopolitan altruist," Herman Levy, Assistant Attorney-General, opened the argument against the petition.

CARDINAL MERCIER'S CONDITION REPORTED TO BE UNCHANGED
He Has Completely Resigned Himself to Thought That Recovery Is Impossible.

By the Associated Press.
BRUSSELS, Jan. 21.—Cardinal Mercier, who has been failing in strength since his operation in December for lesion of the stomach, has completely resigned himself to the thought that recovery is impossible, and continues to ignore the pleadings of his physicians that he refuse to receive visitors.

During the last visit of Queen Elizabeth, she is said to have taken him to task for not heeding his doctors' advice. The aged primate replied that he knew they could not recover. The Queen insisted that he must not give up.

"Your life is indispensable to us," she said, to which the Cardinal smilingly replied: "It is less indispensable than your majesty's gracious smile."

The Cardinal passed a satisfactory night and his condition this morning was said to be stationary. He received Lord Halifax, president of the English Church Union, with whom he has been associated in the attempt to bring about a union of the churches. They conferred for about 20 minutes, after which Lord Halifax remained while mass was celebrated in the sick room.

While running to board a bus at Tower Grove and Shaw avenues at 6 p. m., William Schultzer, 60, of 3457 Duncannon avenue, was struck by an automobile driven by Frank Teply of 4657 Loughborough avenue. Schultzer was taken to City Hospital suffering from a fractured skull and lacerations of the scalp and legs. Teply was arrested.

DRIVER IN AUTO FATALITY HELD FOR THE GRAND JURY

A Coroner's verdict of criminal carelessness was returned today against Nelson C. Scott, 2149A Gravois avenue, whose automobile struck and fatally injured Henry W. White, 62 years old, of 2228 Gravois avenue, last Saturday night. White stepped from the curb at Jefferson avenue and Victor street to board a street car. White died Tuesday night.

Witnesses testified that the street car had stopped at the intersection, and one said that Scott's machine ran ten feet after striking the man.

Scott took the stand and said that he stepped behind the car at the intersection, until passengers had alighted and the exit doors in the middle of the car were closed. Then, he testified, he thought the car started, and so started his machine, but as he reached the front entrance door, White stepped in front. "I did not see him," Scott declared, "he must have been standing behind a telephone pole."

The driver of a Ford automobile who dimmed his lights and sped away at 6:45 p. m. yesterday after striking and critically injuring Mrs. Anna Getschman, 56 years old, of 7812 Virginia avenue, is being sought by police today. Mrs. Getschman is at City Hospital suffering from skull fracture and internal injuries.

The only witness to the crime, Elmer Zinselmeyer, 14 years old, of 7322 Pennsylvania avenue, said he was standing on Upton street, about 150 feet west of Broadway, when he heard a woman's screams. He looked around as an automobile sped past him. He and others found Mrs. Getschman unconscious in Upton street, about 50 feet west of Broadway.

Frank Kostedt, 24 years old, a butcher, residing at Rock Hill and Manchester roads, St. Louis County, suffered a concussion of the brain and a lacerated scalp at 7 p. m. when he was struck by an automobile as he was crossing Chouteau avenue, near Vandeventer avenue. The driver of the machine, Frank McCambridge, of 291 Lindell boulevard, was arrested.

Four persons were cut and bruised at 7:30 p. m. when struck by an automobile driven by Ira Taylor, 21, of Fenton, Mo., at Arsenal street and Jefferson avenue. Those injured were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Stecher and their 10-year-old son, Eugene, all of 2030 Monard street, and Anna Schaly, 12, of 2211A Menard.

While running to board a bus at Tower Grove and Shaw avenues at 6 p. m., William Schultzer, 60, of 3457 Duncannon avenue, was struck by an automobile driven by Frank Teply of 4657 Loughborough avenue. Schultzer was taken to City Hospital suffering from a fractured skull and lacerations of the scalp and legs. Teply was arrested.

DRIVER IN AUTO FATALITY

HELD FOR THE GRAND JURY

A Coroner's verdict of criminal carelessness was returned today against Nelson C. Scott, 2149A Gravois avenue, whose automobile struck and fatally injured Henry W. White, 62 years old, of 2228 Gravois avenue, last Saturday night. White stepped from the curb at Jefferson avenue and Victor street to board a street car. White died Tuesday night.

Witnesses testified that the street car had stopped at the intersection, and one said that Scott's machine ran ten feet after striking the man.

her. Then Reed looked smiling at the Vice President and gave his view of the Senate's "trucking to propaganda."

Reed continued his speech throughout most of today's session. At one point he charged that a "trade had been made with the man in the White House," and branded as "disloyal" the efforts of the court supporters "to take the United States across the seas into the affairs of Europe."

Turning to leaders in the fight for the court, he shouted: "If that does not please you, gentlemen, make the most of it."

Reed got into an argument with Senator Walsh (Dem.) of Montana as to whether the Carnegie fortune is behind the movement for American adhesion to the court.

Walsh said the official organ of the Carnegie Foundation has been silent on the court question, and that those in charge of the foundation were against the court, but Reed replied: "Carnegie money is behind the movement for American adhesion to the court. I will prove it if you will let me have the investigation I have asked for."

Time for U. S. to Awake.

Reed said it was time for the American people to awake "to the horrible fact" that there is an offensive and defensive coalition of 35 nations, forming the League of Nations, to make war upon the United States, should this country attempt to resort to arms to enforce its rights without the consent of the league.

"If the people understood this there is not a chum in the United States," he declared, "in which soldiers would not be drilling without 48 hours."

"If the United States invaded Mexico," Reed said, the matter would be referred to the court and the American armies would be ordered withdrawn.

"What would a red-blooded American President do then?" he shouted. "What would Theodore Roosevelt have done? What would Grover Cleveland have done?"

"They love us just like any dishonest debtor loves a creditor. And they are dishonest debtors—many of them—some of them. A dishonest debtor always hates a creditor."

Reed pictured Germany destroyed in the World War by "sanctions." He paid a tribute to the valor of the German armies, saying that if American and English scientists had invented devices to detect underwater craft, the English nationals would have been "starved in 30 days" by Germany's blockade and "in 60 days England would have been obliged to surrender."

"What broke the mighty heart of the Prussian army?" Reed demanded. "He who doesn't recognize the gallantry of the Prussian is blind, indeed."

U. S. World War Record.
"I don't detract from the great victories of American troops. Their record in the World War is one that will go down through the pages of history, unmarred and unexcelled. But it was the saving of the women and children at home that broke the spirit of the Prussian army, and it came through sanctions."

These sanctions, he said, issued by the allied armies, taking off food from the German people. If the United States entered the world court and a dispute arose, a similar sanction from the League could be directed at America, he said.

Senator Harrell (Rep.) of Alabama, in the first declaration of his attitude on the court question, opposed American participation on the ground that it would destroy the United States in the affairs of Europe and the League of Nations.

Negotiations for an agreement set Feb. 10 for a vote on the ratification bill, and 10 days later for the action on the court question. Opponents of the bill said they would not accept a definite deadline for the vote. Opponents of the bill said they would not accept a definite deadline for the vote.

Chairman Smoot of the Finance Committee, in charge of the bill, said the Senate must act by the proposed tax reduction in effect the March 15 tax payment. After passage it must go to conference, and then be approved by the House and Senate.

While Reed was speaking, Chairman Borah of the Foreign Relations Committee, leader of the anti-court forces, said privately to proposition that the court be set aside for the tax bill and that the measure be read and then debated on the reservations.

"We would not object to a fixed hour of a given day if the reservations pending and if we agreed to a certain day, for it might be that the Senate would have to dispose of the most important of all the reservations without opportunity for one minute of discussion."

Pro-Court Men Insist.
Pro-court leaders insisted on a given date for a vote. They will seek to wear the opposition down.

Senator Lenroot (Rep.) of the Wisconsin, leader of the pro-court forces, said his side was agreed to a vote at any time up to Feb. 10, but that it had made a compromise proposition to lay aside the court and pass the tax bill if it passed after the passage of that measure.

Reed late today canceled his going to St. Louis tonight and announced he would resume his speech against the world court in the Senate tomorrow. He intended going to St. Louis to appear in a case in court, but received word that the case had been reset.

DURKIN'S ARREST RESULTED FROM LOVE FOR AUTOS

Department of Justice Official Tells How Theft of Sport Roadster in Los Angeles Caused Downfall.

DOOMED FROM START, HE ASSERTS

Chicago Underworld Would Not Aid Him and Slain Agent's Friends Were Ready to Risk Lives.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—Martin J. Durkin was a doomed man when he killed Edward C. Shanahan in Chicago, Oct. 11, J. Edgar Hoover, chief of Department of Justice Bureau of Investigation, declared today in commenting on the capture of the notorious gunman at Webster Groves, Mo., yesterday.

"Fried of the service demanded that we take Durkin dead or alive, as Shanahan was the first bureau agent to be killed since the inauguration of this service in 1928," Hoover said. "We had to show criminals that they could not kill our men."

Hoover and other members of the bureau were elated over the capture of the man they had been trailing for the past three months.

"With Durkin captured, 'Dutch' Anderson, head of the Chicago underworld, was left with no one to lead him," Hoover said, "and we have taken the three most spectacular and dangerous criminals in the country."

Hoover said that he had a fondness for high-powered cars and we instructed our men to check up on every thief of this sort of car and report to every district in the country. It was because of these instructions that we were able to catch Durkin.

"Last week Los Angeles reported the theft of a high-powered sport roadster. We found the car abandoned at Alpine, Tex. The San Antonio office was notified and a close check made of all the trains coming in there from Alpine."

"Gus Jones, the chief at San Antonio, has telegraphed me that Durkin positively was identified in San Antonio as he was boarding a St. Louis train. This was in spite of the fact that Durkin at that time had a three weeks' growth of beard."

"Jones stated that he telegraphed this information to the Pullman conductor at Dallas and asked him to check up on his passengers. The Pullman conductor verified the descriptions. Jones then called St. Louis by long distance and Agents Brennan, Scott and Dowd, with the admirable assistance of the St. Louis police, got on the job. The train was stopped at Webster Groves, and you know the rest of the story."

"Praises Agents' Work." "I can't say too much for the work of the agents and the police in this case. We are particularly gratified that we lost no men. The men in Webster Groves were taking an awful chance when they knocked on that door, because Durkin was the man to shoot and shoot quick."

"If they had waited until the train got to St. Louis it might have been another story. There might have been a gun fight in the crowded station, many people might have been killed and Durkin might have escaped."

"Hoover said that when he received full reports on the case he would take care of the men who were responsible for the capture. "We have a strict rule in the bureau about rewards," he explained, "but every man knew that he'd be taken care of by promotion if he helped capture Durkin."

"Hoover said that as far as his reports revealed, Durkin did not wear a steel vest nor did he ever disguise as a woman. "He moved too fast to be wearing a steel vest," Hoover explained. "We know that he was seriously wounded on his second visit to Chicago, a most foolhardy expedition, because he was treated by a physician at Chicago. From there he went to New York, where for several weeks he kept under cover, presumably because of the wounds."

"I know that the Gallo women said that Durkin masqueraded as a woman, but she said a lot of things like that to give an air of mystery and romance to her cousin."

"Our agents never reported as having seen him in this disguise and we've run down even the most trivial information we could get about him."

"Our difficulty was the speed at which he traveled and his habit of wearing a beard. He was the regular sheik type, however, and if anyone ever saw him with his hat vin, Pecos County, Tex., and board a train at Alpine, Tex., for San Antonio.

They hid in San Antonio until Tuesday. The Federal men in Dallas learned the quarry had passed there and telegraphed ahead to St. Louis. The capture at Webster Groves, Mo., yesterday forenoon, resulted.

Durkin freely admitted killing Shanahan, but said he thought he was a robber. The death of Gray and of Lloyd Austin, in whose flat the trap was laid, he attributed to police bullets in the wild shooting that ensued when he appeared with Betty Werner. Durkin was shot through the arm in escaping from the Austin flat. He was treated by Dr. David V. Owens, who later told his story to the police. But Durkin had fled Chicago then, having gone to New York, where he assumed his woman's disguise.

The gunman was welcomed with open arms by the Chicago police, who were jubilant to lay eyes on the man in quest of whom they had gone on scores of fruitless raids in the last few months.

Betty Werner, the pitted sweetheart, saw him in the Department of Justice offices in the Federal Building. Durkin turned his face away and made no effort to speak to her.

Betty at first was unwilling to believe that Durkin was married, but when she became convinced of the truth, she expressed her intention of "doing some talking myself." The State's Attorney's office is considering the possibility of using her as a State's witness against the sheik gunman.

Durkin and Betty Werner faced each other in the State's Attorney's office today. Excuses and explanations sprang from each, while Durkin's bride looked on, out of earshot.

Yesterday Durkin said Miss Werner had helped "frame" him. Previously Betty was quoted as having said she was "through" with him. Prior to that they had sworn undying love.

"You couldn't find me so you took the next best you could find," were Betty's first words. Durkin countered that he had read a newspaper quotation that she was "through."

"I read lots about you, Marty, but I didn't believe anything," Miss Werner replied. "No matter where you were, I would have come for you," replied Durkin. "I put advertisements in the newspapers telling you to come to Michigan and meet or communicate with my mother, but you did neither."

SLAYER'S BRIDE GOING BACK TO VILLAGE HOME

Chicago Authorities Release Young Woman and Parents Hurry to Her Side.

Shy, pretty, 18-year-old Irma Sullivan Durkin, who was separated from her gunman-bridegroom, Martin J. Durkin, the Chicago slayer, by their arrest on a St. Louis-bound train yesterday, was prepared today to go home from Chicago with her father, Bert Sullivan, village blacksmith of Cornell, Ill., and her mother.

Satisfied she was guilty of nothing more than an indiscreet marriage, the authorities decided to release her. Her parents, when they heard of the arrest, hurried to Chicago to take her back to the little town 80 miles southwest of there, from which she eloped seven or 10 days ago. The news started them, for she had written that her husband was "Bert Conley," a St. Louis bond salesman. She had been a high school student and had helped in the care of three younger brothers and sisters. Her marriage took place at East St. Louis.

Irma is the picture of the modern American girl. Reserved and timid in manner, she is of striking appeal in face and figure. Her profuse light brown hair is bobbed, her eyes are blue. Her questioning eyes are blue. She has a good natural complexion, but uses a lipstick; during her brief stay at Police Headquarters here she bit off the lip coating in nervousness. She is about 5 feet 4 inches tall, and delightfully slim.

$2800 Engagement Ring. On her left hand is the $2800 diamond engagement ring she says Betty Werner brought when she took her heart by storm at Cornell. On her right hand she has an onyx dinner ring. She wore the long mink coat that Marty bought, and carried her old gray squirrel cloak in a grip. Her head was covered flapper style, with a cloche hat of black and white silk. Her dress was a light-colored smock affair, the hose of flesh shade and the pumps tan.

Two years ago Irma and Marty formed a chance acquaintance on a Lake Michigan beach at Chicago. They met frequently, but not for quite a time prior to Dec. 3 last. That was the day the handsome, collegiate-looking Marty drove to Cornell in a new Cadillac sedan, bringing the mink coat, the diamond ring and a story of love that caused their prompt elopement.

There is some question as to how much Irma knew of Marty's career as an automobile thief and his murder of two officers at Chicago. She declared here yesterday she had had no idea her husband was a fugitive until he abandoned their car in Texas several days ago after a minor accident, and took her on a St. Louis train at San Antonio. She said there was no chance to inquire about her suspicions before the detectives rushed into their room.

But she told reporters on the way to Chicago: "I married him on his promise to go straight; I love him and will stick to him." Then at Chicago she stated Marty's identity was known to her soon after their marriage.

Six weeks ago she told a friend at St. Louis, Ill., she knew Martin Durkin well and that he had visited Cornell.

They went to East St. Louis in the Cadillac—presumably a stolen car—and on Dec. 4 obtained a marriage license at East St. Louis as "James Durkin" of St. Louis, 24, and Irma Sullivan of Cornell, 21. The license office is in the Arcade Building, across the street from the police station. They went to Justice of the Peace John J. Driscoll, whose court also faces the station, and were married. Irma says she questioned the name of "Durkin," but Marty said it was pronounced Durkin.

They registered at once at the Arnold Hotel, 224 Missouri avenue, East St. Louis, around the corner from the police station, and stayed there about 10 days. Marty said, Irma averred to a Federal agent they lived at an apartment on Lindell, boulevard in St. Louis, but later told reporters they merely visited friends of Marty there. The Arnold Hotel register shows a man and wife of another name registered from Chicago Dec. 4, and checked out the next day, but the handwriting resembles Durkin's on the marriage license blank.

Irma, accompanied by Marty, went to City Clerk Hallinan in East St. Louis Dec. 8, and, as "Irma Conley," applied for an Illinois license for the Cadillac. Durkin called for the plates, No. 1,101-244, Dec. 10. Suspicious because they gave no permanent address, Clerk Hallinan sought unsuccessfully to question the couple. He watched Marty take the car from City Hall past the police station.

A Generous Spender. Equipped with a license, Marty and Irma started driving for Hollywood, by way of Kansas City, but turned up at San Diego, Cal., Christmas eve, Irma related. The young man was generous in spending his numerous yellowbacks on his happy girl wife. Irma had wired her parents that she was now Mrs. Bert Conley and then sent a post card from California saying they would make their home there. At San Diego, as Mr. and Mrs. James Conley, she said, they rented a bungalow at 1362 Ridgewood court.

They went to San Francisco and Irma took out the required motor license for nonresidents at San Francisco, giving the street address of the Arnold Hotel, East St. Louis, as her home. Marty abandoned the sedan for a Cadillac phaeton, which he liked better, and which he acquired by the inexpensive process of driving it out of a Los Angeles sales agency when no one was watching. About five days ago, Irma said, they started to drive from San Diego to Chicago, but ran off the road near Alpine, Tex., breaking a wheel. That was when they switched to the train which brought their downfall.

Women Artists Reverse History. NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—History is reversed rather than repeated at the annual exhibition of the American Society of Miniature Painters, now in progress here. All except three of the 28 nationally-known miniaturists, whose works are being shown, are women and many of them are particularly noted for their portraits of men. In early times of this art, which was established in the courts of Europe, the great artists were men and their subjects women, usually the court ladies of the period.

CITY OFFICIALS MAY DRAW P. S. FRANCHISE

Service at Cost Ordinance Under Amended State Law Also Pending.

Two ordinances, one providing for a franchise for the St. Louis Public Service Co., as successor of the United Railways, and one for a service-at-cost arrangement under the recently amended State law, may be drafted by the committee of city officials entrusted with the shaping of the new transportation program, at conferences beginning tomorrow afternoon.

Mayor Miller said today that the first meeting would probably not get beyond rough drafts of the plan, and that it might be decided to prepare two distinct measures. The meeting, to be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow, probably in the Board of Public Service room, will not be open to the public. Later, he said, full opportunities for discussion will be given.

Mayor Favors Mill Tax. The Mayor was asked today how he would view the apparent desire of the reorganizers for elimination of the mill tax, and possibly also the franchise charges made by ordinance. "I think we will have to require those taxes," he said, "but we would not go into this matter in detail."

Last year the United Railways paid $379,317 under the franchise ordinance and $267,205 current mill tax. The total of the company's taxes, including property taxes, was $1,650,690.

$3,400,000 Due in Taxes. The back mill tax, due for a long delinquent period before the reorganization, is $2,394,321.92 principal and $1,006,453.20 interest to Jan. 15, or a total of $3,400,775.12. The reorganization proposal is to pay this in 10 installments.

FRENCH ENVOY ASSURES COOLIDGE OF DEBT PAYMENT

President Replies That There Should Be No Insuperable Difficulty in Arriving at Adjustment.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—France is resolved to settle her war debt with this country, Henry Berenger, the new French Ambassador, has informed President Coolidge, in presenting his letters of credence. Payment will be made, he told the President yesterday, "as promptly and as fully as her present and future possibilities will allow."

President Coolidge in reply expressed a belief that "there should be no insuperable difficulty in arriving at such an adjustment." Alluding to the debt, the Ambassador said, "France again declares herself true to the principle of the sanctity of international contracts." France knows, he added, "that the economic world cannot be brought back into equilibrium unless everyone in the world meets internal and external obligations by a strict restoration of credit and of confidence."

President Coolidge expressed his "honest hope that a fair and honorable adjustment will be reached in the near future." He believed no great obstacle would be encountered in reaching the settlement, "since you have only now reiterated the fidelity of your Government to the sanctity of contract and since you know the spirit of royal friendship in which the American Debt Funding Commission is prepared to discuss the matter."

The President asked the Ambassador to convey to France his "best wishes for the happiness and prosperity of the great nation which has stood undismayed through trials that would have shaken the courage of a country less indomitable."

Ambassador Berenger would not discuss the suggestion that he brought with him from Paris a new proposal for settlement of the debt.

THOUGHT IT WAS JOKE WHEN HELD UP BY THREE BOYS

Samuel Schoenberg, However, Is Told With Revolver by Assassins, Who Then Fly.

Samuel Schoenberg of 1518 Bidle street thought it was a joke when three boys, the eldest about 17 years old, held him up with a revolver at Glasgow avenue and Dayton street last night. "Don't be fooling with me," he said, and started to move on. "We're not fooling," exclaimed the eldest boy, and struck Schoenberg with the revolver. He fell down, calling for help, and the boys ran. Schoenberg was treated at the city hospital for a severe laceration of the scalp and possible skull fracture.

Stranded Wife Takes Poison.

Mrs. Clara Norton, 25 years old, swallowed iodine yesterday at the home of her mother, Mrs. Anna Nooker, 513 Antelope avenue. She had been separated from her husband, Ray, for whom she left a letter, saying she could not live without him and that she had left him only to scare him, but that he had been "glad to get rid of her." It was said at City Hospital that she probably would recover.

TROUBLES OF JUDICIARY OUTLINED TO BOARD

Religious Organizations Told Pay Is Low and Prosecutor's Staff Inadequate.

The Protection and Delinquency Department of the St. Louis Board of Religious Organizations, which has been making a study of judicial procedure, held its regular monthly meeting in the courtroom of Judge Calvin Miller of the Court of Criminal Correction yesterday afternoon. The meeting was addressed by Judge Miller, Prosecuting Attorney Schweitzer and Speaker Jones H. Parker of the Missouri House of Representatives.

Parker spoke of the increasing number of laws and of the consequent increase of infringements of the law. "The State Judiciary does everything in its power to enforce these laws," he said, "but jurors often are afraid to fix the punishment which law-breakers should receive. I hope that none of the members of this organization will allow sentiment to sway them from exercising what they believe to be their moral duty."

"The Prosecuting Attorney's office is swamped with more work than it can handle," said Schweitzer. The biggest problem before him and his assistants, he said, is to weed out cases which do not properly come under the jurisdiction of the Prosecuting Attorney—cases with the Police, Courts, probation officers, welfare associations and Courts of Domestic Relations are empowered to handle.

"There are only four men, including myself, in the office—the same number as in 1909," he asserted. "The work is continually increasing, without any increase in the staff to dispose of it."

Judge Miller told of the low salaries which St. Louis Judges and prosecutors receive in comparison with those of officials in New York and Chicago. "It is no wonder," he said, "that with the financial dependence which this poor pay necessitates that lax conduct occasionally finds its way into the judiciary."

This delinquency department of the Board of Religious Organizations is composed of four committees, all of which are interested in social work. The February meeting of the department will be held in Judge Gayer's courtroom.

TWO LOITERERS AT ENTRANCE TO COURTS BUILDING FINED

Patrolman Andrew J. McClelland, stationed at the Municipal Courts Building with orders to keep it clear of "fixers," yesterday took two Negroes to Police Judge Rosenbaum's court. The Negroes, Tom Graham and Lee Turner, who said they live at 1604 Franklin avenue, were fined $100 each on the technical charge of vagrancy after they refused to make any statement on advice of counsel.

McClelland testified he knew the men for more than a year and that their practice was to stand at the Market street entrance to the building, stop Negro defendants as they entered and try to obtain fees on the claim they had power to "fix" cases.

ALLEGED BANK ROBBER IDENTIFIED IN COURT

Benny Bethel, on Trial
Pine Lawn Holdup, Point
Out by Negro Chauffeur

A witness, who refused to be lured by bribes or threats, testified today at the trial of Benny Bethel on a first degree murder charge in connection with the holdup of the Pine Lawn bank last March.

Taking the witness stand, Circuit Judge Wurdeman at once, Archie Johnson, a chauffeur of Kintoch Park, positively identified Bethel as the man who drove the robbers' car and who could identify his companions, in the event of arrest.

It will be recalled that Wurdeman last Friday began investigation of efforts to identify Johnson and has cited Ball, bondsman for Bethel, contempt of court.

Johnson has stated that he has stopped several times in the county and offered "a piece of change" on condition he lead the county to a safe place. When he refused the offer, he was threatened with a pistol, he declared. Cutting Attorney Mueller, he later how Hall telephoned and made veiled threats. Mueller refused to stop the action.

Johnson testified he had at his truck a few feet from the bank and was getting out when he noticed an automobile parked in front of the bank. A young man faced the truck. A young man at the wheel of the car and at Johnson. Johnson stated he testified.

"All at once a gun went off and three men ran out and got in the car. The witness testified. "One pointed a pistol at me. Then they went away."

"Could you identify the driver?"

"There he is sitting behind the lawyer."

"You mean the defendant?"

"Yes."

J. B. Elliott, president of the bank, and J. F. Silver, a customer, preceded Johnson on the stand. They testified concerning the three armed youths who entered the bank and how they escaped empty-handed, after firing several shots. The State concluded its case with testimony of Deputy Constable Berio and Pressy, who at Bethel about a week after the robbery. Bethel told he was not near the bank, but driving to a football game.

The defense offered a demurrer, asking that the case be dismissed on the ground Bethel was not in the information and accompanying affidavit with entering the bank and flourishing a revolver, whereas the witness agreed was not in the bank. After the affidavit, Judge Wurdeman said, "This is the piece of work I have ever seen. Court Condemn's Prosecutor."

Informing that the affidavit had been drawn by Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Paul Miller.

Wurdeman summoned Miller before him and, in the absence of the jury, said:

"Here the State has made a case, but it may be necessary to sustain the demurrer on account of your sloppy and silent work."

Miller protested that he based the charge in the affidavit on the information he had received, but Judge Wurdeman replied:

"That is no excuse. If you read the testimony given in preliminary hearing of this case you would have seen that never left the auto."

The demurrer was overruled. Judge Wurdeman, after Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Noble called cases in which the Supreme Court had upheld the conviction of persons of first robbery when the persons actively engaged in the robbery were aware of it and shared loot.

Defense Offers an Alibi. Bethel's defense consisted of an alibi. He did not testify, C. Boyd, who operates a garage on Grand boulevard and Cass street, testified Bethel was employed by him.

ALLEGED BANK ROBBER IDENTIFIED IN COURT

Benny Bethel, on Trial for Pine Lawn Holdup, Pointed Out by Negro Chauffeur.

A witness, who refused to be silenced by bribes or threats, testified today at the trial of Benny Bethel on a first degree robbery charge in connection with an attempt to rob the Pine Lawn Bank last March.

Taking the witness stand before Circuit Judge Wurdeman at Clayton, Archie Johnson, a Negro chauffeur of Kintoch Park, positively identified Bethel as the man who drove the robbers' car. He said he could identify Bethel's companions, in the event of their arrest.

It will be recalled that Judge Wurdeman last Friday began an investigation of efforts to intimidate Johnson and has cited John Ball, bondsman for Bethel, for contempt of court.

Johnson has stated that he has been stopped several times in the county and offered "a piece of change" on condition he leave St. Louis County to avoid testifying against Bethel. When he rejected the bribe offer, he was threatened with a pistol, he declared.

Prosecuting Attorney Mueller has related how Ball telephoned him and made veiled threats when Mueller refused to stop the prosecution.

Johnson testified he had stopped his truck a few feet from the bank and was getting out when he noticed an automobile parked so it faced the truck. A young man sat at the wheel of the car and stared at Johnson. Johnson started back, he testified.

"All at once a gun went off inside the bank and three fellows ran out and got in the car," the witness testified. "One pointed his pistol at me. Then they drove away."

"Could you identify the driver?" "There he is sitting behind the lawyer."

"You mean the defendant, Benny Bethel?" "Yes."

J. B. Elliott, president of the bank, and J. F. Silver, a customer, preceded Johnson on the stand and testified concerning the entry of three armed youths into the bank and how they escaped empty-handed, after firing several shots. The State concluded its case with the testimony of Deputy Constables (Berio and Pressy, who arrested Bethel about a week after the attempted robbery. Bethel told them he was not near the bank, but was driving to a football game.

The defense offered a demurrer asking that the case be dismissed, on the ground Bethel was charged in the information and accompanying affidavit with entering the bank and flourishing a revolver, whereas the witnesses agreed he was not in the bank. After reading the affidavit, Judge Wurdeman said, "This is the sloppiest piece of work I have ever seen."

Court Condemns Prosecution Aid. Informed that the affidavit had been drawn by Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Paul Miller, Judge Wurdeman summoned Miller before him and, in the absence of the jury, said:

"Here the State has probably made a case, but it may be necessary to sustain the demurrer on account of your sloppy and inefficient work."

Miller protested that he had based the charges in the affidavit on the information he had received, but Judge Wurdeman replied:

"That is no excuse. If you had read the testimony given at the preliminary hearing of this case, you would have known that Bethel never left the auto."

The demurrer was overruled by Judge Wurdeman, after Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Noble had cited cases in which the State Supreme Court had upheld the convictions of persons of first-degree robbery when the persons did not actively engage in the robbery, but were aware of it and shared in the loot.

Defense Offers an Alibi. Bethel's defense consisted of an alibi. He did not testify, but C. C. Boyd, who operates a garage at Grand boulevard and Cass avenue, testified Bethel was employed there as a mechanic's helper, and the books showed he was at work there on the day of the attempted robbery. Paul Long, who gave his address as 6458 Derby avenue, and Frank Tighe, who gave 4705 Rosewood avenue as his residence, testified that they saw Bethel at work in the garage on the day in question.

Tighe, according to Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Noble, is a brother of Leo Tighe, who received a 10-year sentence in May, 1922, on his plea of guilty to being one of the three robbers who held up the Pine Lawn Bank in January, 1922, and got away with $2210.

Leo Tighe's sentence was commuted to five years in the Booneville reformatory. He was paroled after serving 11 months, but police did not learn of the parole until Tighe was shot and seriously wounded in December, 1924.

Three young men, alleged to have been following Johnson, were arrested last night in front of the courthouse. Deputies who made the arrest said the youths were friends of Bethel. Johnson has told how he was stopped several times by groups of men who threatened him.

Wrecked Train for a "Thrill." OKLAHOMA CITY, Ok., Jan. 21.—John Doyle wrecked a fast Atchafalpa train near here June 2, just for the "thrill of it," says an alleged confession made public by J. K. Wright, County Attorney, and Ben L. Dancy, Sheriff. Wright quoted Doyle as saying he missed the thrill of seeing the wreck, however, because he fell asleep. By some chance the train did not plunge off a high viaduct, several cars merely going into the ditch. No one was seriously injured.

MAN SOUGHT IN INQUIRY INTO THE DEATH OF WOMAN The inquest in the case of Mrs. Isadorah Fahey, 30 years old, of 722A Washington avenue, Madison, who was fatally wounded at a house party in that city Monday night, was continued indefinitely yesterday to permit authorities to search for a man, said to be from St. Louis, who disappeared immediately after Mrs. Fahey was wounded. Mrs. Fahey, mother of two small children, was wounded in the home of Mrs. Mamie Hicks, 35, of 315 Reynolds street.

Mrs. Hicks and other witnesses assert that Mrs. Fahey was fired through an open window and that the revolver was thrown into the room under the pillow had been discharged, the bullet penetrating her right hip and ranging upward. Police believe the bullet which wounded Mrs. Fahey was fired through an open window and that the revolver was thrown into the room under the pillow had been discharged, the bullet penetrating her right hip and ranging upward. SUIT OVER RIO GRANDE

FAILURE DISMISSED

Judge Makes Ruling After Attorney Admits Collapse Meant No Profit.

By Leased Wire from the Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—Unless counsel for the minority stockholders of the old Denver & Rio Grande Railroad try to revise it, the final chapter in the story of the late George J. Gould's failure to realize his dream of a transcontinental railroad system was written yesterday, when Justice Mulligan in the Supreme Court dismissed the $200,000,000 action brought by minority stockholders of the defunct railway against its former directors.

Justice Mulligan's decision terminated a trial which started on Dec. 10 and in which many witnesses eminent in banking and railroad circles told of the struggles to weld the Missouri Pacific, the Denver & Rio Grande and the Western Pacific into one system.

The charges of conspiracy to wreck the Denver & Rio Grande and defraud the stockholders of the assets, which were the foundation of the charges against the old directors, were based on a succession of events beginning with the failure of the Denver & Rio Grande to live up to its contract with the Western Pacific and pay an interest installment of $1,250,000 on $50,000,000 of Western Pacific first mortgage bonds due on March 1, 1915.

Gould Rule Ended.

The default was followed by a receivership for the Western Pacific, a judgment for $33,000,000 against the Denver & Rio Grande in favor of the Equitable Trust Co., trustee for the Western Pacific bondholders, and a receivership for the Denver & Rio Grande.

After all this the Missouri Pacific went into the hands of a receiver. Through the intricacies of reorganization the Denver & Rio Grande became the Denver & Rio Grande Western, owned jointly by the reorganized Western Pacific and Missouri Pacific, which meanwhile had been divested of Gould domination.

Abraham Benedict, chief of counsel for the Denver & Rio Grande stockholders, conceded at the beginning of his argument yesterday in opposition to a motion to dismiss the complaint that none of the old stockholders had profited personally from the Denver road's collapse.

Justice Mulligan, while expressing the opinion that the directors of the Denver & Rio Grande could have paid the interest on the Western Pacific bonds, due on March 1, 1915, and that their failure to do so was "immoral," pointed out that the courts were inclined to overlook such things in reorganizations, and that in the absence of any evidence of fraudulent intent such failure on the part of the directors could not be held to be illegal.

Comment of Judge.

Elaborating upon the absence of evidence of fraudulent intent, Justice Mulligan said: "If these directors had done what they are alleged to have done they would be nothing more or less than pickpockets. After listening to the evidence I am absolutely convinced that they are not men of that type. There is no evidence sufficient to make out a prima facie case, and I allow the motion of the defendants to dismiss the complaint."

The action was dismissed as against Alvin W. Kreh and Alexander R. Baldwin on Tuesday. Those exonerated yesterday were Edward T. Jeffrey, Arthur Coppell, Edwin Gould, Kinndon Gould, Edgar L. Harston, Benjamin F. Bush of St. Louis, Edward L. Brown, Edward D. Adams, Finley J. Shepard, Harrison Williams, Benjamin R. McAlpin, George C. Haven, Henry C. Mudge, James Horace Harding, Harry Bronner, Charles C. Hult and John H. McClement.

Intentionally George J. Gould, whose death the court ruled had removed him and his estate as defendants, was also exonerated by Justice Mulligan's decision.

MOVEMENT FOR INCORPORATION OF WELLSTON

Petitions Being Circulated
by Advocates of Proposal for Submission to the County Court.

A movement to incorporate Wellston, which centers in an active business district at Easton and Hodiamont avenues, adjoining the western limits of St. Louis, is under way in that community and petitions are being circulated which the advocates of incorporation propose to submit to the St.
Louis County Court in applying for charter.

First plans were made at a meeting Jan. 12 and a second meeting is set for tomorrow night at Wellston High School. The advocates of incorporation contend that they represent the "law enforcement" "factor" of the community and that all opponents of the plan wish to keep the community "wide open" so that gambling houses and clairvoyants may flourish without local police interference.

Arguments for Incorporation.
J. W. Millerbaugh, chairman of the incorporation committee, and their nominee for Mayor, said today in a statement that Wellston needs money for its high school to save it from being closed. It needs a universal sewer system, a police force to curb crime and frequent burglaries, a fire department to protect its homes, and considerable street improvement work—all of which can be obtained only by incorporation.

Millerbaugh's statement describes the boundaries of the proposed town as follows: Bartmer avenue and the St. Louis city limits on the east, north to Natural Bridge road, west to Lucas and Hunt road, to St. Charles road, to Ferguson avenue to University City limits, to Bartmer avenue. Within these boundaries several thousand persons reside, a great number of whom are crowded along the Easton avenue district adjoining St.
Louis.

A bitter fight is predicted over the incorporation movement. In 1909 incorporation was obtained, but after a few months, Wellston was again reincorporated. In 1915 another movement failed.

Bearing Association.
It is known that citizens of Wellston have indicated themselves as overwhelmingly in favor of annexation to St. Louis and it is pointed out that, if the city of St. Louis is restored to the county, Wellston, as an incorporated city, would have a voice in any annexation project, whereas the city would be free to annex any unincorporated territory at will.

Millerbaugh has lived in Wellston eight years and is employed by the Cupples Co. of St. Louis. He has been an officer of the Central Ward Improvement Association of Wellston and last year was president of the Page Avenue Property Owners' League. He is assisted by an advisory committee of five men.

$2000 FOR ITALIAN WAR DEBT
Dr. Cesare Avigli, editor of Il
Fenestero, a local Italian publication, last night announced that $2000 had been collected in St.
Louis for the paying off of the Italian national debt to the United States.

On Dec. 1, Mussolini appealed to every Italian in the world to contribute the equivalent of $1 and a sum that will probably total a million dollars has been collected.
$100,000 of this has been raised in the United States.

The amount collected in the St.
Louis campaign, in which Il Pen-stero assisted, does not represent the full contribution of the 20,000 Italians living here, Avigli said, since many of them send their money directly to the Italian ambassador.

Samuel D. Goldstein of Webster Groves, former proprietor of a retail jewelry store, yesterday filed suit in Circuit Court for $35,000 damages against his wife's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Marks, 6260 Cates avenue, charging that they alienated her affections and caused a separation.

They were married Sept. 23, 1922, and separated Sept. 18 last. Mrs. Marks today declined to comment on the suit.

PLAN OF MADDOX FOR CENTRAL HIGH MAY BE AMENDED

Superintendent Silent, but Myrt A. Rollins Understands That Change Will Be Made.

At the close of a demonstrative mass meeting of Central High School alumni, students and faculty, last night, at which an emphatic resolution was adopted protesting dissolution of the school or even temporary separation of its pupils and teachers, Myrt A. Rollins, a member of the Board of Education, present, told a Post-Dispatch reporter he understood Superintendent of Instruction Maddox had revised the plans for the institution.

Maddox, who had proposed distributing the students between Yeatman High and the new Beaumont High, following a board order to close Central as an unsafe building next week, today said he had no announcement to make.

A chief grievance expressed at the mass meeting was the inability of those interested to get a definite official statement about Central's future. It is feared the closing order, ostensibly for repairs, which, however, have not been ordered, might lead to the permanent closing of Central, which was established 73 years ago as the first high school west of the Mississippi.

Resolution by Calhoun.
The resolution, introduced by Circuit Judge Calhoun, an alumnus, and unanimously adopted by about 1500 men, women and students who filled the high school auditorium in spite of the rain, declared: "It would be a distinct civic disaster to disrupt the faculty of this school, which has accomplished great intellectual good in this city and influenced the characters of many of our most useful citizens, who have distinguished themselves in the service of the city, State and nation. The traditions and spirit of Central are a distinct civic asset. Separation of the faculty and student body would seriously impair the educational system of our city, destroy the very efficient instruction of this pre-eminent superior corps of teachers and rob the students of their heritage of an honorable tradition, a matchless spirit and an unsurpassed educational training."

The resolution protested "any action which will destroy or tend to destroy Central as a senior high school and which will either temporarily or permanently separate the faculty or student body," formed a permanent organization of those attending the meeting to continue till the present and future status of the school is satisfactorily determined, and created a committee of nine to solicit the support of board members and take any other appropriate action.

Judge Hamilton, Presides.
On the rostrum, where Circuit Judge Hamilton, an alumnus, served as chairman, Central's gold star flag showed that 19 of her sons made the supreme sacrifice in the World War. On the stage were displayed 49 bright loving cups and other trophies of Central's youths in field and forum. On the profusely displayed school colors, red and black, was the letter "H," adopted instead of "C," before there was any other high school here. The greater part of the audience comprised men and women alumni of recent and remote past.

As in their school days, the old grads sang lustily the loyal song, with its line, "Stands our glorious alma mater, stands perpetually." The Mandolin Club played, and then Judge Hamilton declared, "It is not proper for us to be lulled into insecurity by statements that have been made by board members."

"If this building is a firetrap," he continued, "it was the duty of the authorities to have learned that long ago. I believe there is another real reason for this move, but what it is I am unable to say. If an emergency has arisen, the sensible thing is not to destroy this institution, but to move it bodily to the new building prepared as Beaumont High. Let me function there as Central till a new home is built for us on the present site or in the vicinity. We're not asking for a monumental building, but only a chance to perpetuate Central High."

Mixing Pupils Opposed.
Judge Hamilton and other speakers opposed the plan now considered by school officials of mixing the students of Central and Yeatman at Yeatman and Beaumont, or the idea of turning Yeatman into Beaumont outright.

Rabbi Leon Harrison of Temple Israel, speaking not as an alumnus but as an interested citizen, declared St. Louis would welcome "an unequivocal and plain declaration from the board that it is not and will not be the intention to destroy Central." He added, "If they want to know the sentiment of St. Louis let them look at you here tonight."

Judge Calhoun asserted a great injustice was being done Central. "I would like somebody to spread a little more understanding among the board members and superintendent," he said.

Mike Walker, coach of Central's athletic teams and history teacher since 1904, told the gathering the school had been forced to wage "an intensive campaign for self-preservation for the last few years," referring apparently to Interscholastic League difficulties and the effort to rename the institution Roosevelt High in 1919. To merge with another school might cause a new athletic controversy, he pre-

THREE CHILDREN HURT AS BOY FIRES SHOTGUN

Two Girls and Brother of One Wounded Near 1115 S.
Cardinal Avenue.

Two school girls, 10 years old, and a 13-year-old brother of one of them, on their way to school yesterday were slightly wounded by birdshot from a shotgun accidentally fired from across the street by a 12-year-old school boy.

The three children—Frances Wiget, daughter of Mrs. Felix Wiget, 3118 Chouteau avenue, and Margaret and George Watson, children of Mrs. Mary Watson of 1209 South Compton avenue, were passing 1115 South Cardinal avenue at 12:40 p. m. on their way to the Immaculate Conception School, Park and Cardinal avenues, when wounded.

They felt the sting of the shot,
but continued on to school. Later Frances complained to one of her teachers, who questioned her and Margaret and caused them to be sent to City Hospital. There physicians found Frances had been shot eight times in the back and legs and Margaret six times in the left side and back. Subsequently, police learned George Watson had been shot three times in the legs.
The Watson children were treated at the hospital and sent home. The wounds of the three children were pronounced superficial.

Investigating the shooting, police learned that the shotgun was carried by James H. Thomas, a Negro, of 2035 La Salle street, who had halted to chat with another Negro in front of the grocery store of Mrs. Nathan Tashman of 3039
La Salle street. Her son, Edward, a 12-year-old pupil at the Chouteau School, asked to see the gun.
The owner handed it to the boy, remarking, police say, that it was not loaded. As the boy took it in his hands it was discharged.

VIRGINIA DRY LAW TRAPPED ITS AUTHOR, LEGISLATOR SAYS

A. O. Boschchen Also Opposes That Dry Editors Take the Biggest Drinks.

By the Associated Press.
RICHMOND, Va., Jan. 21.—On the floor of the Virginia House of Delegates, Albert O. Boschchen of Richmond declared yesterday that even Senator G. W. Layman of New Castle, author of the Virginia prohibition act, had been "caught in the meshes of his own law."

"The Layman act is ridiculous," Boschchen said. "Even the Senator who sponsored it was caught pouring out his own whisky by a Constable who did not know he was a Senator. Some editors writing dry editorials take the biggest drinks in the country and I can prove my statement."

The delegate was speaking on a resolution he had offered requesting Congress to amend the Federal law so that the Government might manufacture and distribute liquors for medicinal purposes.

Senator Layman later issued a statement explaining that he had been in the office of a friend who had been drinking when officers arrived. The Senator said he suggested to the officers that they search for liquor and when a bottle of it was found, he himself poured it on the ground.

dited. He offered assurance that the faculty was not trying to discredit officials or start discord.

Grimm Voices Surprise.
"I'm surprised that this building suddenly has become so dilapidated overnight," said former Circuit Judge J. Hugo Grimm, an alumnus.

"I find such a wonderful state of mental uncertainty. The board doesn't know what the superintendent contemplates and the superintendent doesn't know what the board contemplates. There seems to be a great deal of uncertainty of each of what is going on in their own minds. It would seem to be a very simple matter to say what they propose to do."

Other speakers, who followed the same vein, were: Mrs. W. E.
Fischel, a leader of women, who,
eight years ago, received a golden anniversary diploma as a graduate of 50 years previously; Mrs. E. M.
Taylor of 1304 McCausland avenue, who received a similar document three years ago; William Wedemeyer, an architect, whose son is a senior at Central, although their home is north of Yeatman; Mrs. J. T. Addis, vice president of the Women's Chamber of Commerce, whose son is an alumnus; Byron W. Moser, president of the Security National Bank, Savings & Trust Co., a graduate of '03; Harry Agruss and Carl Beckers, presidents of recent graduating classes, and Herbert Mac-Cready, head of the present seventh-term class. MacCready promised that the students "would remain loyal ladies and gentlemen no matter what happened."

Resolutions of the Wednesday Club and Tuesday Literary Club and a telegram from Herman Sal-inger, Princeton University student and recent leader of Central student activities, all protesting dissolution of Central, were read.
Loud applause was frequent during the meeting.

Judge Hamilton appointed the following committee to carry on the fight: Judge Calhoun, Moser, Stratford Lee Newton, Judge
Grimm, Maj. Leo Rasmussen, Wedemeyer, Mrs. Fischel, Mrs. A. V. L.
Brekaw and MacCready. All are alumni except the last named.

FIRES AT FLEEING ROBBERS

Pine Lawn Grocer Refuses to Be

Frank Berkel, grocer at Cresnight two men, both with pistols, tried to rob him in his store. He reached for his own weapon. The men ran. Berkel emptied his revolver at the rear of their auto-

ADVERTISEMENT The Easiest Way To End Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely, and that is to dissolve it. This de-

BLAMED AS CARELESS IN BUS DRIVER'S DEATH

Inquest Jury Holds C. F. Brennan for Killing of T. L.
Adamson.

Charles P. Brennan, 40 years old, of 3035 Ruskin avenue, is being held on a $5000 bond on a charge of criminal carelessness, following the inquest into the death of Turner
L. Adamson, who lived at 9
Lewis place. Adamson was chauffeur for the Farmington Bus Co., and was struck by Brennan's automobile on Tuesday evening near Broadway and Itasca avenue, when he attempted to pick up from the street his cap which had blown off.
Frank Markiewicz, 4210 Clarence avenue, testified that he was driving south on Broadway at a rate of 10 miles an hour when he saw Adamson run diagonally across Broadway from east to west.
Markiewicz said he applied his brakes, and avoided striking Adamson, but a minute later he heard a bump. Turning around, Markiewicz saw an automobile dragging Adamson along for about 15 feet underneath its wheels. The car that hit Adamson, Markiewicz said, was traveling about 25 miles an hour, and had sounded no horn or other warning signal. It went on about 75 feet after striking Adamson.

Mrs. Hattie Hulen, 1656 South
Jefferson avenue, employed at the Ely Walker Dry Goods Co., testified that she was riding in Brennan's car, which was going about 20 or 25 miles an hour. She said that they saw a black object in the street about 15 feet away, and that Brennan immediately applied his brakes, but that he skidded and struck Adamson.

According to the testimony of police, the street was dry at the time of the accident.

CULBERTSON LETTER DISCUSSED ON FLOOR OF THE HOUSE

Bland of Virginia Declares Practice in Making Appointments Might Prove Dangerous.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—The letter written by William S. Culbertson, former member of the Tariff Commission and now Minister to Rumania, saying that President Coolidge in reappointing David J. Lewis (Dem.), of Maryland, as a commissioner, had first requested a blank letter of resignation, was made the subject of discussion in the House yesterday by Representative Bland (Dem.), of Virginia. The letter was read to the Senate Saturday by Senator Norris (Rep.), Nebraska, and the action it ascribed to Mr. Coolidge was declared by Bland to be fraught with many dangers.

Making clear he was not attacking the President, he said that if such action should at any time become a practice it might prove a dangerous weapon in the hands of an executive with despotic tendencies.

If the practice should be made applicable to an independent commission, he explained, it might be broadened to include appointments of postmasters and army and navy officers and in this way be used to suppress the liberties of the country.

"Those bilious headaches can be prevented"

"Since then I have never had another headache. There is no reason why I should, for the cause has been corrected."

SON OF BRITISH WARTIME SPY TO DIE FOR KILLING MAN

23-Year-Old Artillery Bombardier Convicted of Murdering Salesman in a Holdup.

By the Associated Press. DEVIZES, Wiltshire, England, Jan. 21.—Ignatius Lincoln, 23 years old, said to be the son of the wartime spy, Tribich Lincoln, was found guilty today and sentenced to death for the murder of Edward Richards, a brewer's salesman, at Trowbridge on Christmas eve.

Lincoln, who was a bombardier in the Royal Horse Artillery, with a fellow soldier, Ian Stewart, was alleged to have waylaid Richards while he was on his way home for the Christmas festivities. Lincoln emptied his service revolver at him. Richards was known frequently to carry large sums of money.

Lincoln testified at his trial that he had been drinking and in a letter to his fiancée from prison said he had needed money to buy Christmas presents.

Lincoln gave his full name as Ignatius Manuel Naphthi Tribich Lincoln, but he enlisted as John Lincoln.

Stewart was acquitted on the murder charge, but was rearrested for burglary.

STOCK BROKER'S WIFE GIVEN DIVORCE AND $7500 A YEAR

Mrs. Elise J. Tappin Free of Husband Named in S. G. Schermerhorn's Suit.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—Mrs. Elise J. Tappin, wife of Lindsay Tappin, a member of the New York Stock Exchange firm of J. M. Amory & Son, won an interlocutory decree of divorce with alimony of $7500 a year yesterday in the Supreme Court by decision of Justice Traynor.

Sheppard Gandy Schermerhorn, member of one of New York's oldest families, divorced his wife, Sarah C. Schermerhorn, several months ago, naming Tappin. These proceedings were secret. However, Mrs. Tappin, in her divorce action, gave the details of the romance between her husband and Mrs. Schermerhorn. Mrs. Schermerhorn was formerly Mrs. William Hayward, wife of the former United States District Attorney. Hayward divorced her in Nebraska in 1912.

Tappin did not attempt to disprove his wife's charges and made his contest of her suit only on the question of alimony.

Switchman Crushed to Death. Richard Carter, 36 years old, of 7228 East Railroad avenue, a Terminal switchman, was crushed to death between cars while at work in the Bulwer avenue yard in North St. Louis yesterday. He was caught between two cars of a string of thirteen being switched onto a siding near the Rock Island platform.

METEOR ON MISSOURI FARM Caused Hole in Ground Almost Four Feet in Diameter.

By the Associated Press. QUINCY, Ill., Jan. 21.—A meteor, which was observed by residents in Illinois and Missouri Tuesday afternoon, fell on the farm of Ben Meyers, two miles east of Palmyra, Mo., near here, according to Raymond Gilker and Alvin Jessup, who were less than 300 yards from the meteor when it fell.

The two young men were driving to their farm near Palmyra when they observed the meteor in the sky. The hole in the ground caused by the fall of the object is almost four feet in diameter, according to the men, and there are also a number of small holes near by, where pieces broke off the object.

BELLEFONTAINE FARMS CASE MAY GO TO GRAND JURY

Judge Hartmann Announces He Will Fight Any Attempt to Whitewash Cruelty Charges.

REPORT SUBMITTED BY SUPERINTENDENT

He Denies Any Gross Mistreatment of Children and Questions Sincerity of the Jurist.

Circuit Judge Hartmann said today he will request the next grand jury to investigate conditions of alleged mistreatment of boys confined at Bellefontaine Farms. If a report of such conditions submitted last night by Carl H. Soest, superintendent of the farms, to members of the Board of Children's Guardians is accepted by the board, in the report, which was made at a meeting in the board's offices in Municipal Courts Building, Soest denied any gross mistreatment of children and entered upon a lengthy attack upon Judge Hartmann.

If there is any attempt to whitewash alleged conditions of mistreatment at the farms by the Board of Children's Guardians, I will submit my evidence to the next grand jury and request a rigid investigation," Judge Hartmann declared. "I feel that the acceptance of Soest's report will be a complete whitewash. He has dodged many of the issues upon which I furnished evidence."

Action on Report Deferred. Although Irvin Bettman, chairman of the board, said that body is not ready to announce acceptance or rejection of Soest's report, the attitude of several members last night indicated hearty approval of the report.

In a letter to Bettman on Dec. 20 last, Judge Hartmann requested the board to make a rigid investigation of alleged conditions on the farms, to which juvenile delinquents are committed. Before the reading of Soest's report members criticized Judge Hartmann for allowing the matter to become public. The latter maintained that publicity had caused additional statements of mistreatment to be made. Soest, entering upon a denunciation of Judge Hartmann, said: "Judge Hartmann has come to the repeated trouble to advise this board . . . that he bears me no malice or ill will and that he has only the highest regard for me as a man, etc., etc. The constant repetition of this lacks sincerity and makes no impression upon anyone who knows me, for my friends know my honor and integrity is unimpeachable."

Criticizes Judge Hartmann. Referring to the lack of judicial temperament which he said had been evident on the part of Judge Hartmann throughout the investigation, Soest declared "if he was sincere in his belief of mistreatment how could he keep on sending boys to Bellefontaine Farms? How could he reconcile his conscience to this?" Declaring that Judge Hartmann "has not set foot on Bellefontaine Farms for six years," Soest said that Judges Calhoun, Garesche and Kene "kept up with their boys." "What good our institution could accomplish if we always had men of such great character on our Juvenile Court bench," Soest declared.

Soest charged that although Judge Hartmann is urging protection of boys confined at the farms, he is committing juveniles to the city jail contrary to law. "Yet in spite of the law's special protection to children under 18 years of age, the Juvenile Court actually does commit such children to the city jail," the farms superintendent said. "At least 20 boys under 18 have been committed to the jail between Feb. 12 and June 29 last, and the commitments were signed by Judge Hartmann."

Judge Hartmann explained that he had only committed desperate characters to the city jail, who, in most cases, were charged with first-degree murder. He added they were too desperate to be kept in the House of Detention.

Whipping One of the Rules.

In the early part of his report, consuming more than 20 typewritten pages, Soest declared that whipping at the farms is strictly in accordance with the rules, that no one has been injured as a result of whippings and that punishment is not too severe. In order to safeguard the children, he said, he has ordered a doctor to be present when punishment is administered, although he is not compelled to do so. He denied that boys have ever been held at the farms three months after their commitment expires, except in cases of runaways. It has always been the custom, he said, to add to the time of sentence the time any boy has absented himself from the farms.

Answering charges that runaway boys are allowed only bread and water for several days after being returned, Soest said they were put on this diet only three days and then just for the evening meal. He added they could have all the bread they wanted, in only a charge that boys were forced to stand in line for an hour at a time.

the superintendent said they were not forced to stand rigid or in the same position and that they might move their feet.

Board members present at last night's meeting, which adjourned shortly after midnight, were: Mrs. James E. Connell, James E. Carroll, Mrs. Michael J. Cullinane, Forrest C. Donnell, Mrs. Warren F. Drescher, Mrs. Charles Ellis, Mrs. Gus V. R. Mechin, Carl G. Rathmann and the Rev. Dr. C. C. Stahlmann.

Secretary Mellon is interested in the Aluminum case, which is charged by the Federal Trade Commission with violation of a Federal Court decree.

Post-Dispatch Bureau
WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—Sergeant General Sargent, chief of the Federal Trade Commission, testified before the Senate Judiciary Committee today that the report of the Aluminum Co. of America, which was made to the department in March 1925, was inaccurate.

1. That some of the material furnished by the Aluminum Co. of America was received under a pledge of secrecy.
2. That the report of Sargent J. E. Dunn, who made field investigation for the department of Justice, was inaccurate in some of its details.
3. That it should not have been more than a few hours for the department of Justice to decide the commission's report made prima facie case of deception by the Aluminum Co. of America.

4. That if the Department of Justice had asked the company to bring the inquiry down to date, it could have been done by investigators in four months.

As a result of Walker's memory, supplemented by that of W. H. Stevens, a former secretary of the commission, now a professor at the University of Kentucky, and of William T. WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—Attorney-General Sargent and his chief assistant, William J. Donovan, were recalled by the Senate Judiciary Committee today for further examination concerning Sargent's memorandum of March 12, 1925, dealing with the Department of Justice inquiry into the practices of the Aluminum Co. of America.

The memorandum, addressed to Donovan, directed that there be no action or publicity in the case until a report had been made to Sargent. Secretary Mellon is largely interested in the Aluminum Co., which is charged by the Federal Trade Commission with violation of a Federal Court decree.

"Has your recollection concerning this memorandum been refreshed since you last appeared here?" asked Senator Walsh (Dem.) of Montana. "It has not," Sargent replied.

He added that he had tried to recall the circumstances of the preparation of the memorandum, but had been unable to do so. He was excused after having been on the stand only five minutes.

Donovan then testified that the memorandum had been filed in the department; that a copy was filed, and the original was sent to the antitrust division of the department.

Order Given to Lott.

In the antitrust division Donovan said the memorandum was turned over to John L. Lott, in charge of the aluminum case.

With Lott on the stand, Walsh called attention to the fact that when Donovan furnished the committee with a list of correspondence pertaining to the aluminum case, the March 25 memorandum was omitted.

"That memorandum was sent to me and I kept it in a special envelope in my office," Lott said.

He explained that he frequently kept original copies of orders so as to save himself time in referring to them.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—Francis Walker, chief economist of the Federal Trade Commission, who supervised its investigation of the aluminum industry, testifying at the Senate Judiciary Committee's inquiry into the Department of Justice handling of the case of the Aluminum Co. of America, gave this evidence yesterday.

1. That none of the material obtained by the commission from the Aluminum Co. of America was received under a pledge of secrecy.
2. That the report of Special Agent J. E. Dunn, who made the field investigation for the Department of Justice, was inaccurate and beside the point in some things.
3. That it should not have taken more than a few hours for the Department of Justice to decide that the commission's report made out a prima facie case of decree violation by the Aluminum Co. of America.

Russians Revive Dispute Over Claim That the Poet Pushkin Was a Negro

Country's Foremost Ethnologist, After Examining Several Hairs From Dramatist's Head, Says They Are of a European.

Special Correspondence of the Post-Dispatch and the Chicago Daily News.
Copyright, 1926.

MOSCOW, Dec. 26.—An excited controversy has started over the assertion that Alexander S. Pushkin, Russia's greatest poet and dramatist, was a Negro. This time science is brought in to prove that he was not—a simple test that was not possible in Pushkin's day.

All Russia reads Pushkin. His poems are the most popular in its theaters. He was associated with the early Dekabrist revolutionists of 1825, was a friend of the Czar, a descendant of and married to nobility. He is much more than a name to Russia and the controversy provokes wide discussion.

Coincidentally with the celebration of the Dekabrist centennial, the Pushkin dispute was revived by the announcement that various Negro publications in Germany and the United States listed the poet among the great men of his race.

Moscow has a Pushkin museum and one of the contenders that Pushkin was not a Negro obtained several hairs from the head of the poet, which are preserved in the museum. These were taken to Prof. Peter Minnekov, the country's foremost ethnologist, and, without being told of their origin, he was requested to determine to what race they belonged. He replied, after various tests, that the hair was that of a European.

Grandfather Out of Africa.

Again the story of Pushkin's ancestry and life comes up, as romantic and as tragic as any of the masterpieces of Russia. What preceded the arrival of his grandfather in Russia is veiled in mystery that accounts for the question of his race.

Pushkin's grandfather, Hannibal, always claimed that he was the favorite son of an Abyssinian Prince and had been sold by two jealous brothers to a Turkish slave trader, who carried him to Constantinople. He was black in color and came from Africa. If he was an Abyssinian, as some claim, he was not a Negro, no matter how dark the color of his skin.

Hannibal came to Russia as a present to Peter the Great—an "Arap" from the Sultan of Turkey. He was a man of unusual ability and presence, upholding his claim to royal blood and centuries of rule, and from being a slave became a favorite of the powerful Czar. Like many others of humble origin who graced the new court at St. Petersburg, Hannibal was raised to high position, was sent abroad on missions of state and married the daughter of a noble. Pushkin told his grandfather's story in "The Arap of Peter the Great."

Fearful of Revolutionary Bent.

One of the daughters of the "Arap," Nadejda Hannibal, an obvious mulatto, married Serge Pushkin, a noble and the great-grandfather of the poet. Pushkin was one of their children, born in 1799. His dramatic end came in 1837. In that short span Pushkin interpreted Russian life as it never had been before or has been since. Personally liked by the Czar and received at court for his talents and social standing, he was hated and feared for his revolutionary activities and never permitted to leave Russia. He knew Russian life, glittering or grim, and told it.

Pushkin, dark in color and far from handsome, married the reigning beauty of the court. Though they had four children, she was not adverse to the attention of other men, one of her favorites being her sister's husband, Baron Dantess-Geleken, a Frenchman who had been adopted when a boy by the Dutch Ambassador to Russia. A duel followed.

Pushkin was killed. The Baron was expelled from Russia and died only a few years ago. The widow married an army Lieutenant.

The oldest daughter, Marie, died in poverty. Tolstoy was a distant relative of Pushkin's and Marie is said to have been the original of his "Anna Karenina." Alexander, the second child, had 13 children and died in 1914. Grandson, the next, had several children, one of his sons living in Laponia, near Moscow. Natalia, the youngest, married Dubelt, a famous chief of the secret police, whom she divorced later she married Duke Nassau.

War and revolution have changed Russia and the old families are gone, but Pushkin survives.

That shipments were often largely delayed, delayed for several months oftentimes, and very much delayed for some companies as again and again.

In his evidence before the committee Dunn conceded he was neither a lawyer, economist nor stenographer. Senator Walsh stressed the difference in the caliber of the commission's investigation by bringing out that F. X. person, who did most of the field work, was an economist and an expert stenographer.

Walker gave the names of the men referred to, but not named in the report in the commission files. Dunn had testified he could not examine a man referred to in the report as "a prominent manufacturer" and another as "a purchasing agent" because he could not establish their identity.

As to the time necessary to determine from the commission's report, whether there were apparent decree violations by the Aluminum Co. of America, Walker said that only about 15 pages of the report dealt with this subject.

"Taking the report as it stands," said Senator Walsh, "how long would it take you to study the report so as to make up your mind whether the conclusions therein were really supported by the report or not?"

"Well," said Walker, "I should not think it would take more than a few hours consideration, in the study of this report and the decree, to form some opinion about it."

John L. Lott, special assistant to the Attorney-General and the man who drafted Justice Stone's letter of Jan. 30, 1925, indorsing the report, was an interested listener. He had testified that before saying there were apparent decree violations he had studied the report exhaustively and made a lengthy digest of it.

Finally Senator Walsh went to the question of time necessary to bring the Federal Trade Commission's inquiry down to date.

A Four-Months Task.

The report submitted to the Attorney-General in October, 1924, extended down to August, 1923. The inquiry which the Department of Justice began in February, 1925, to bring it down to date has not yet been completed.

"Suppose," said Senator Walsh, "that instead of the Attorney-General saying, 'My department will conduct an investigation from that time on down,' he had said, 'Will you please continue your investigation so as to advise me concerning the practices during the last two years.' About how soon would you be able to give the necessary report to the Attorney-General?"

"Well," said Mr. Walker, "I think if we had put four men on

RUSSIA SUSPENDS BUSINESS 2 DAYS TO HONOR LENINE

Cities and Towns Draped in Red and Black in Second Anniversary of His Death.

By the Associated Press.
MOSCOW, Jan. 21.—Soviet Russia today commemorated the second anniversary of the death of Nikolai Lenin, the "father of Bolshevism."

For two days all the Government departments, factories, stores, offices and restaurants will be closed. The cities and towns throughout Russia are draped in red and black, mementoes have ceased, and the sale of alcohol is forbidden. Any person found giving a party or entertainment will be fined $50.

Films depicting scenes in Lenin's life and the ceremonies at the time of his death are being shown throughout the union. Lectures and addresses of eulogy will be made by Bolshevik orators in theaters, clubs and public squares, the populace listening in by radio.

The newspapers today devoted whole pages and even their entire issues to articles extolling Lenin's virtues and achievements. Several thousands of persons, mostly workers and peasants, shivered in the snow-covered Red Square in Moscow, awaiting a chance to enter the wooden mausoleum and view the embalmed features of the Bolshevik idol.

Between 6:20 and 6:30 o'clock tonight all flags will be drawn to half mast and all activities will cease to mark the hour of the Premier's death, two years ago.

The registers at the tomb show that 1,500,000 persons have viewed the body since it was deposited there.

EXPENDITURE ON UNIVERSITY PRESIDENT'S HOME CRITICISED

House Is Said to Look Like It Might Be Worth $25,000 After Repairs Costing $65,000.

By the Associated Press.
KANSAS CITY, Jan. 21.—Expenditure of State funds was discussed here today at a meeting of the Association for Economy in Public Expenditures. The reported cost of $65,000 for repairs on the official residence of Stratton D. Brooks, president of the University of Missouri, was criticised. George D. Clayton, a delegate from Hannibal, brought up the expenditure, which was discussed at length.

"The lavish expenditure of the public money is getting to be a habit," he said, declaring that his taxes had increased 700 per cent since 1910. He pointed out that the University of Missouri, which is not so widely remembered here as his work, continued until three years ago, as Poland's representative in the League of Nations. There he was able to bring about the first peace adjustment made by the league, the nations concerned being Poland and its neighbor, Lithuania. A stirring speech by Paderewski, delivered after a boundary dispute had caused a beginning of hostilities, brought a scene in which the Lithuanian delegates clasped the hands of the Polish group, and the league's power for peace was dramatized in the Chamber of all Europe."

"The League is not a perfect instrumentality," Paderewski said, "but it is the best we have been able to do. The Locarno treaty, which I believe to be due largely to the statesmanship of Austen Chamberlain, has brought the League to settle whatever misunderstandings, conflicts and frictions arise between the contracting nations."

"As to Lithuania, its best prospect for a peaceful future and for development lies in a revival of the old-time union with Poland. Lithuania, like Poland, is between two great nations, Germany, desiring to move east, and Russia, seeking over a gateway to the west. It is a country of perhaps 2,000,000 people. The Polish state has 28,000,000 people."

"Poland, for six years a battlefield for armies moving east and west across her soil, has made a recovery in agriculture almost to the normal stage. But it has not been possible to restore industry so soon."

People Penniless.

"In addition to the great damage wrought, our people were rendered penniless, after the war, by the collapse of all three currencies in general use. The German mark, the Russian ruble and the Austrian krona went down until our people's resources were wiped out. To establish a new currency, the Government had to resort to severe measures of taxation, and had to ask the people for gifts. Many gave their jewelry, particularly wedding rings, to establish the new standard of money value."

"We are a young democracy. We have many ambitious personalities. We have a long frontier, which has required us to keep an army ready for support. At present, the army's strength is about 200,000."

"We need peace with our neighbors, and prospects now are good. Russia seems not disposed to molest neighboring countries, probably because Russia realizes that constructive internal work is the greatest need. To meet this need, the Soviet Government has had to re-establish private trade, making what is termed a concession to capitalism."

"Poland needs a large foreign loan, and it has excellent security to offer, in the national resources of oil, salt, potash and forestry, and in the laborious and law-abiding character of her people. Our

U. S. SEARCHES DANISH CARGO FOR PROPAGANDA OF SOVIETS

Contraband Literature Supposed to

By the Associated Press.
PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 21.—Under the eyes of several Treasury Department and Customs agents, the unloading of the Danish steamer Ivar from Copenhagen began yesterday. The agents searched for a supposed consignment of radical soviet propaganda which, according to word received by the Government from its European agents, was mixed with a cargo of licorice roots destined for a tobacco factory at Camden, N. J.

Capt. C. Clemmons of the Ivar, as well as the ship's local agents, S. L. Burgess & Co., professed ignorance of the alleged plot to smuggle the propaganda into this country.

Pershing's Successor at Africa

AFRICA, Chde, Jan. 21.—The American cruiser Cleveland arrived today, bringing Major-General William Lassiter, who is to succeed Gen. John J. Pershing as chairman of the Tama-Africa Plebiscitary Commission.

It worked four months, we would have had a very good answer on the subsequent period.

"Would you have that number of men available for the work?" "If it was a matter of urgency we would have had, if we were told to do it. We would take them off duty work if necessary. It is always a question of which work is the more important."

"Would that be an extraordinary thing to do, to put four men at work on a thing of this kind?" "No, it could not be an extraordinary thing."

In addition to Dr. W. H. Stevens, who revised the report of the commission's field investigators, William T. Kelley, assistant chief counsel, and Richard Whiteley, trial counsel in the complaint of the commission against the Aluminum Co. of America, testified. They corroborated Walker's evidence.

PADEREWSKI SAYS LEAGUE PROMISES PEACE IN EUROPE

PLANS NO RETURN

But He Will Not Say
"Never" This or "Al-

The long notes "Never" and "Forever" are muted when Paderewski, master pianist and sometime statesman, speaks of his future. "My experience in politics has taught me," said the former Premier of Poland in an interview here yesterday, "not to say 'always' or 'never.'"

"I might say today that I shall never return to political life, that I shall always devote myself to my art. But I cannot say that. All I can say is that I am not planning any change at present."

Of the past, the excellent recent past since the wartime rebirth of his country, the famous visitor speaks with insight and without bitterness. An intense nationalist, he believes that the League of Nations, in which his last public work was done, represents the surest prospect of peace for Poland and for Europe.

Paderewski and League.

That Paderewski's career as Premier was brief, and that despite the sacrifice of his art and his large gifts of money to his country's cause, he proved not an available candidate for the presidency most readers know. But what is not so widely remembered here is his work, continued until three years ago, as Poland's representative in the League of Nations.

There he was able to bring about the first peace adjustment made by the league, the nations concerned being Poland and its neighbor, Lithuania. A stirring speech by Paderewski, delivered after a boundary dispute had caused a beginning of hostilities, brought a scene in which the Lithuanian delegates clasped the hands of the Polish group, and the league's power for peace was dramatized in the Chamber of all Europe."

"The League is not a perfect instrumentality," Paderewski said, "but it is the best we have been able to do. ASTRONOMER WRITES OF NEW UNIVERSE

Says It Is 66 Quadrillion Miles Away, and Has Nebulae and Stars.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Jan. 21.—For years astronomers have speculated whether various nebulous formations in the heavens belonged to this universe or were "island" universes of their own, vast distances away.

Some of the white patches were known to be true nebulae composed of luminous gases, or were star clusters that dissolved before the telescope. But others were puzzling, no telescope being strong enough to separate them into their component parts. Some astronomers suggested that they were universes of suns so far away that they appeared as one mass.

Evidence that another universe really exists is offered by Dr. Edwin Hubble, in a study published today by the University of Chicago in the Astro-Physical Journal.

Dr. Hubble describes this universe as containing bright and dim stars and nebulae in a heavens like our own, and entirely outside of the earth's galactic system, is 700,000 light years away, or 66,669,872,000,000,000 miles. According to his computation it is 4000 light years across.

The galaxy's general appearance was described as like that of the Magellanic Clouds, a mass of nebulae like the Milky Way in the skies of the Southern Hemisphere.

"The present investigation identifies N. G. C. 682 (the numerical classification of the galaxy) as an isolated system of stars and nebulae of the same type as the Magellanic Clouds, although somewhat smaller and much more distant," said Dr. Hubble.

"The dimensions, luminosities densities, both of the system as a whole and of its separate members, are of orders of magnitude which are thoroughly familiar. The distance is the only quantity of a new order."

"The principle of the uniformity of nature seems to rule undisturbed in this remote region of space. It is a matter of considerable importance that familiar relations are found to be consistent when applied to the first system definitely assigned to the regions outside the galactic system."

Dr. Hubble made his observations at Mount Wilson Observatory, near Los Angeles, where many important astronomical searches have been carried on. Prof. E. E. Barnard, who was on the staff of the Yerkes Observatory of the University of Chicago until his death in 1923, first saw the galaxy in 1884, apparently with his own five-inch refracting telescope. He described it as very faint, and stated somewhat later that it was seen with difficulty. The next year he examined it with a six-inch telescope and said that it was fairly conspicuous, large, round and rather dense and even in its light.

SOVIET PROTESTS TO CHINA AGAINST CONDUCT OF TROOPS

Karakhan Warns Foreign Office That Russia Will Hold It Responsible.

By the Associated Press.
PEKIN, Jan. 21.—M. Karakhan, the Soviet Envoy to China, has presented a protest to the Chinese Foreign Office against "the abominable action of Chinese soldiers" in the struggle between the Chinese and the Soviet for control of the Chinese Eastern Railway. The trouble arose out of a refusal by the Russians, who are in control of the line, to carry Chinese troops free of charge. Karakhan cites alleged acts of violence committed at Harbin.

The note requests the Chinese Foreign Office to instruct the local authorities to end these alleged outrages and restore order. It points out that the Soviet renounced protection of the railway when it resumed operations in the hope that the Chinese could appreciate such a move.

The note calls attention to the seriousness of the situation and the gravity of the consequences which are likely to arise if the present conditions continue.

"My Government," says Karakhan, "will hold China responsible for all damages inflicted through the actions of the Chinese authorities or for outrages committed by Chinese soldiers."

SOUTHERN ILLINOIS COAL FOR BARGING UP RIVER WANTED

Gen. Ashburn on Way to

RATE MAY BE HALF THAT OF RAILROADS

W. W. Morse of Minneapolis Heads $600,000 Corporation—Contracts to Be O K'd in Washington

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
MINNEAPOLIS, Jan. 21.—Brig-Gen. T. Q. Ashburn departed last night for Chicago to attempt to arrange with Southern Illinois mine operators for a large tonnage of coal for the Upper Mississippi Barge Line, which is planned to begin operation between St. Louis and the Twin Cities this summer.

The rail rate on coal from the Southern Illinois fields to Minneapolis is $3.75 a ton. Business men of the Twin Cities believe they could cut that in half with all-water transportation.

All-water transportation is no longer in sight, said Maj. John C. Gotwals, district engineer at St. Louis, recently indicated, at the close of his preliminary examination of the Big Muddy River as a proposed "waterway" from the interior of the coal fields to the Mississippi, that his report on the proposed canalization was unfavorable.

There still remains, however, the possibility of shipping by rail from the interior of the fields to the Mississippi, and by the new barge line up the Mississippi to the Twin Cities.

Maj. Gotwals' Reason.

Such rail-and-water rates, offered in similar cases by the Federal barge line below St. Louis, usually are about 80 per cent of the all-rail rate.

Maj. Gotwals' ground for opposing improvement on the tributary was that it would draw funds from main waterways which are needed them, and that the tributary itself would not develop full value until the main arteries it would feed were built up. Placing a barge line on the Upper Mississippi, with the channel improvement, was expected to follow a demonstration that there is available traffic to warrant it, is a momentous step in that direction.

Willard W. Morse, Minneapolis warehouse owner, yesterday was named general manager of the $600,000 Upper Mississippi Barge Line Corporation. Officials of the corporation signed contracts to build a fleet for the upper river and turn it over to the Government Inland Waterways Corporation, which Gen. Ashburn heads, for operation.

Morse is to meet Gen. Ashburn and Theodore Brent of New Orleans, traffic manager of its Mississippi-Warrior Service, in Pittsburgh this week to confer with naval architects and boat builders on the type of equipment to be selected. Gen. Ashburn is taking the contracts between the Government and Morse's organization to Washington for Secretary of War Davis' signature, and that of Gen. Ashburn himself. The Secretary's signature is expected as virtually a matter of course, since the plan was drawn in accordance with his written proposition.

Revives Hopes of 1915.

Hopes for a revival of traffic on the Upper Mississippi, at high tide in 1915 when Minneapolis spent $200,000 for docks, waned steadily for years thereafter. Last year ago the State of Indiana won a rate discrimination case in the Interstate Commerce Commission, on grounds that the through freight rates obtaining then between the Twin Cities and St. Louis were based on water competition, and that there was no likelihood of such competition being developed. Those rates then were raised by the commission.

RIOT OVER GALS WORTHY PLAY

Transylvania Nationalists in Audience of "Loyalties" Attack Jews.

VIENNA, Jan. 21.—The production of John Galsworthy's play, "Loyalties," at the Rumanian National Theater at Grosswardein, Transylvania, was the cause of serious rioting. Nationalist students, aroused by the attitude of British aristocrats toward Jews as exemplified by the characters in the play, fell upon and beat the Jews in the audience, forced abandonment of the performance and the withdrawal of the play.

"Loyalties," which was played in St. Louis a season or two ago, does not depict the Jew in an unfavorable light. Certain fashionable elements of the play refer to the millionaire Jew as a newly rich climber, but in the development Galsworthy makes the man admirable in certain respects at least.

Do We Love Good Music?

WHAT is really the matter with the people in this community? Hardly a single concert of the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra, either regular or popular, has been a house more than four-fifths filled—and this in spite of the fact that it is the only continuous influence exerted for sound musical entertainment in this section of the United States.

Can it be that the taste of the public has become so utterly dulled by the saturation of the prevailing scourge of "blues," "jazz" and what not that they cannot appreciate the better things, musically speaking? Do they carry away with them a more potent or lasting impression from the average motion-picture house than from a concert in which nearly 50 fine artists and one or more soloists provide a veritable feast?

If this were Chicago, you would discover that it is almost impossible to obtain a ticket for the "pop" concert of the Chicago Symphony Orchestra, at prices certainly no lower, if as cheap, as the Sunday "pops" here. Visitors to other cities boasting symphony orchestras—and they are none too many—find it requires real strategy, at times, to even obtain a single ticket.

Where can St. Louisans spend their Sunday afternoons to as much advantage, from the standpoint of actually getting "into tune with the Infinite"? With the splendid aggregation of men and women under the baton of Mr. G. G. (whose earnestness and sincerity in trying to please has brought a deserved popularity) St. Louisans should wake to their magnificent opportunities, musically speaking, and accord the orchestra and its soloists the support which are justified by loyalty and devotion to the worthy, fine cause.

Free Bridge Approach.

IN a recent Sunday Post-Dispatch I read of the progress of the bond issue of 1925 and as a progressive citizen I am anxious to see what is on the improvement list for 1926.

I, for one, would like to go on record as a starter to have the southern railroad approach to the Free Bridge completed. There has been much talk that railroads would not use the Free Bridge, but I know two that will and they are the Iron Mountain (M. P.) and the Manufacturers' Railway. If they would only give this matter some thought it is very simple to see through it. We are advised that the Terminal does not want it, yet we have other roads which will use it, so why not give them a chance by including in the bond program the southern approach for 1926 and get somewhere. We would have a lot of interstate commerce for the South Side if they would at least give this item consideration and get busy. We are losing a lot of valuable time. The two mentioned roads could connect with the Alton & Southern on the East Side, which is not bottled. If action were taken South St. Louis would grow as a great industrial center.

Condition of Twelfth Boulevard.

TO the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
I WOULD like to know why a city like St. Louis a wonderful town that we as residents thereof should boast, has such a street as Twelfth street between Spruce and Market in existence. This Twelfth street adjoins our City Hall and Central District Police Station and 75 per cent of the tourists from the East will travel over it.

Let us first strive for a clean national record, to gain which we evidently need teamwork of all our powers and resources for good.

All of us above the moron grade know that we haven't enough uprightness, intelligence and integrity to fill the pulpit of "the two and seventy jarring sects" which we call religious denominations. We have intolerance, narrow-mindedness, ignorance and worse in our pulpits which we expect our youth to respect, heed—and support.

Don't bite off more than you can chew. Z. T. G. C.

THE APPEAL-BOND RULE.

The governing rule in the Federal court as to the admission of an accused man to bail after conviction in a lower court was expressed by the Supreme Court in 1894. It is as follows:

The statutes of the United States have been framed upon the theory that a person accused of crime shall not, until he has been finally adjudged guilty in the court of last resort, be absolutely compelled to undergo imprisonment, but may be admitted to bail after conviction and pending a writ of error.

The word "may" in this opinion has been construed since as giving the right to deny bail after conviction in the discretion of the court. No Federal Judge, so far as is known, has ever claimed the absolute right to deny bail to a man after conviction. But to grant a Judge the right to use his discretion is, in effect, to confer such absolute power upon him. And certainly the exercise of judicial discretion in this matter has resulted in some world inequalities before the law.

The most authoritative statement of the question since the 1894 Supreme Court decision was given out some time ago over the signature of Chief Justice Taft. The discussion proceeded from a meeting of the senior Circuit Judges of the country, and was issued for guidance of District Judges. It contains some interesting language. For example:

Bail after conviction by a court or a Judge of first instance . . . is not a matter of constitutional right. The acts of Congress make provision for allowance of bail after conviction by courts and Judges to release the convicted defendants upon the exercise of their judicial discretion, having in mind the purpose of the Federal statutes not to subject to punishment anyone until he has been finally adjudged guilty in the court of last resort.

The statement, however, proceeds to advise Judges to withhold bail from those who appeal "on frivolous grounds merely for delay." Again the Judge's right to exercise his discretion is recognized.

Thus there is a lack of definiteness about the rule. But neither the Supreme Court in the 1894 decision, nor Chief Justice Taft in his statement, was in any doubt about the real purpose of the Federal statutes. That purpose literally applied would give every man the right to bail until his case was decided by the court of last resort. The Constitution makes no provision in the matter, but the implication of the governing statutes is clear.

And every time a Judge exercises his discretion by denying bail to a man before his case is finally adjudged, there is always the danger that he will serve in the penitentiary for a crime of which he will later be absolved. To have faith in the present practice of the Federal courts is to have faith in the infallibility of the Federal Judges.

FIRST-AID CHARITY.

General Manager E. G. Steger of the Provident Association is to be commended for taking a step that will disarm much criticism and enable this most important member of the Community Fund to do relief work in a manner that commends itself to the kindly disposed person who lives by the Golden Rule.

Manager Steger has instructed the visiting staff of the association to give such emergency relief in all cases as will "prevent suffering, insure health and a reasonable degree of comfort," and investigate afterwards.

This will make the association truly a first-aid organization. The newspapers have been full of cases recently where such first aid was shown to be necessary—cases in which helpless women and children, or men unable to find work, were actually suffering from hunger and cold, with over a million dollars pledged to the Community Fund. It will be a relief to the citizens who have contributed to the fund to know that no unfortunate person, especially women and children, will go without prompt aid, and that there will be no delay because of red tape.

If, in addition to this improvement in relief methods, the association will curtail its investigating system so as to cut out everything that tends to humiliate the unfortunate recipients of relief, discovering only such facts as will prevent imposition by designing persons, it will approach the ideal in charity work.

GRAY'S YELLOWCY WRITTEN IN CHICAGO.

Charles W. Gray, who quit newspaper reporting to become a taxi driver, has just been elected president of the Yellow Taxi Cab Co., a Chicago dispatch relates. Clearly, the first step in a newspaper reporter's successful career is to quit newspaper reporting. That's the lesson of Gray's Yellowcy.

WHERE WE HAVE IT ON 'EM.

The "Buy British" conference was held in London the other day and the Times reports it was a success. Various noble speakers assured the English public that products of the Empire were top hole. The Rolls Royce was stood beside the Pierce-Arrow, Mercedes and Renault and outclassed them all. Lip-ton's teas were voted the pure nectar. Sheffield steel was marked as superior to that from Pittsburgh. British liquors, British woollens, British soaps—all were surveyed with satisfaction.

There was only one sad strain admitted by these boosters of John Bull. British movies aren't so good. Even loyal London exhibitors prefer those made in Hollywood. A representative, speaking for the London cinema palace operators, opposed a plan to force English theaters to take a certain percentage of British-made films. The spokesman didn't know exactly why, but to be perfectly frank, the English movies were inferior to the American pictures.

Having viewed two or three "Made-in-England" motion picture plays, we think we know why the Britishers are such punk movie makers. In the first place, they go about it like snobs. Their picture plays are labeled "for the consumption of the lower middle class people." In the second place, Britons are notoriously unadaptable. Whereas the day laborers of Hollywood ape English, French, Spanish or what-will-you culture, and do it with absolute fidelity, no sane English movie director would think of doing such a thing. If a scene calls for a Parisian casino it shows up as "a bit of dear old Lunnun" transplanted in the picture. If an Italian Duke appears he has his tea at 5 just the same. That shallow change of mood and complete authenticity which have made American movies enjoyable all over the world is thus far past the ken of our British competitors.

We have it on 'em. But we do not wish to appear gloating. We would say, rather: "Don't laugh, boys, the poor fellows are trying." Hurray for Charlie Chaplin!

DEMORALIZING THE YOUTH.

The professed object of the prohibition advocates, the antisaloon leaguers, in putting over the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act, was to save the youth of the country. They argued that while they might not save the older generation, whose appetite for alcohol is fixed, they would save the younger generation by removing all temptations to drink out of their path.

Of course, this overlooks that profound philosophy of human nature and that experience which teach that the untamed man, the man who has always been in leading strings and who has never had a choice between good and evil action, is a feeble man who has never practiced self-control. Suppression sometimes breeds morbidity and degeneracy.

The main point, however, is that evidence accumulates that prohibition has utterly failed of its object to save the youth.

In the convention of the Big Brothers and Big Sisters Federation of Chicago there was ample testimony that prohibition, so far from elevating the morals of youth, is a demoralizing influence. The federation is pan-sectarian, composed of child welfare workers from all parts of the country. Mrs. Sidney C. Borg, president of the Jewish Big Sisters of New York, said: "I have found the moral standards of the youth with whom I have come into contact have declined because of prohibition. There is open defiance of it among the young people on every hand."

Other testimony that the prohibition laws have worked to weaken children's morals was given by Mrs. Smith Alford, president of the Big Sisters Association of Queens, and H. A. Weber, executive secretary of the Catholic Big Brothers of the Bronx, New York. Leaders of the convention demanded the modification of the Volstead act.

If the results of prohibition are law-breaking, disrespect for law, on the part of the older generation, and the demoralization with defiance of law on the part of the younger generation, the conclusion is inevitable that it is a menace to good morals and good government. If we add to this the breaking down of the rights and liberties of citizens, the indictment is complete.

WOMEN WANT A SQUARE DEAL.

The Post-Dispatch yesterday published a group picture of a delegation of women that called on President Coolidge a day or two ago with an unusual request. They asked for a square deal. They want to be delivered from the special favors bestowed on them by the meddlesome Matties.

One of those women, Miss Margaret Hinchey of New York City, justly considers herself the victim of "protective legislation." She used to have a good job in the subway. She lost it when a bill regulating the hours of labor of women on railroads was passed. She protested against it to a prominent welfare worker while the bill was pending. The prominent welfare worker's final reply was: "Well, there's always scrubbing to be done, isn't there?"

Miss Hinchey is now running an elevator. The prominent welfare worker, we suppose, is engaged in some new uplift movement. It is a cinch she is not scrubbing. Useful work of any kind is something that the meddlesome Matties, male and female, rarely engage in. The world would be a good deal better off if these do-gooders would only quit reforming and take to scrubbing.

SQUALID PRISONS AND OTHERS.

In the unusually interesting news stories in the Post-Dispatch of the imprisonment of the Jack Daniel convicted men much light was cast on modern jails. It appears there are jails and jails. The Marion County Jail at Indianapolis was described as sanitary, but Danny O'Neil, one of the prisoners, who suffered with a toothache in the afternoon, found it almost impossible to get relief. He was told that the Federal physician would come in the morning, and exclaimed: "God, won't Leavenworth be heaven!" To this sentiment most of the prisoners subscribed. They loathed the prison food and complained of rules that seemed to have been made for the purpose of adding to the discomfort and humiliation.

We have another glimpse of a prison, the one at Athens, Ga., to which Remus got himself transferred from the Atlanta Penitentiary by bribery. That was an average small-town jail. Still able to oil the itching palm of the jailer, Remus says he was allowed to occupy two rooms, instead of being placed in a cell. At a cost of $425 he fitted up these rooms, hired a maid to cook his meals and frequently enjoyed parties composed of friends or other prisoners. The heartless newspaper men, however, discovered this extraordinary example of a jail de luxe, and Remus had to return to Atlanta, where, however, his money still made prison life comparatively easy.

From the news stories we now know a great deal about prison life at the famous crime castle at Leavenworth. Perhaps the most valuable bit of information is to the effect that prisons can be both clean and sanitary. There are no vermin, and the usual prison odor is absent. It is due solely to the neglect of prison officials that these conditions exist in so many jails.

Dispatch from Los Angeles in re the bandit Durkin:

During his stay in Hollywood, Durkin assuming the name of B. Conely, renting a luxurious apartment in an exclusive section of the residence district.

Chief Deputy Sheriff Harry Wright said two of his officers were within three hours of capturing the Chicago fugitive gunman last Thursday night.

The officers had received a tip that a man answering Durkin's description was living at the apartment house. They sat in an automobile across the street for several hours while the couple packed their effects preparatory to leaving. When no one emerged from the apartment the officers returned to headquarters and when they again went to the house Durkin and the woman had left.

"Within three hours of getting him" is good, don't you think? They must have some great movie detective work in Hollywood.

Our good friend John Gould, who is game commissioner of Minnesota, has been trying to get us to come up there and go out on a snow-shoe trip into the wilderness; but after looking out of the window this morning we decided that the pleasure of getting about in snow must be one of those things to which distance lends enchantment.

A Washington congressman says we will never have any happiness over prohibition until we get the rich and the poor law-breaker, the foreign diplomat and the press all on the same rock pile. That will be some rock pile.

STARS AND STRIPES.

Whenever a man raises the cry of bolshevik against his neighbor, it's ten to one that he has either robbed him or is preparing to.

Patriotism is the last refuge of people like Vice President Dawes and Speaker Longworth.

When I see a man wrapping himself in the flag I always look for the bulge which indicates the stolen goods. Keep an eye on the man who wants a man deported—usually he covets something which the man has, either his house, or his chattels, or his daughter, or all of them. If Jefferson were alive today it is profitable only to speculate on whether he would be in Leavenworth or Atlanta. A.

OUR KINGS.

We freedom-loving, proud Americans. Quick to resent some obvious tyranny. Are yet the happy slaves of two great kings.

Smoking, and Joe-King. But I dare to say. In spite of automobility temperament. And general craze for swifter locomotion. We more and more incline to sturdiness. And the next generation will appear. As loyal footman vowing fealty To that robust and older sovereign, Hi-King.

A MODERN NOVEL COHERENTLY
CONDENSED.

"It's a dread-dreadful little maisonette," explained the red dress with a girl in it. "It's these blasted anti-vivisection maniacs who are always inviting me to tea, these days." "One of these days," said the man behind two bottle-green eyes with little specks of amber in them that flamed red when he grew angry. "You may find them more absorbing than you think." "What could be absolutely and more piercingly vile?" The moonlight shone around in silver and purple gloom, resounding with a slurp on a Saturday-colored back-pack. "What did you say?" The pretty defendant hissed: "It wasn't septicaemia."

Hecuba. Brown and red danced drunkenly over the slippery floor that was like a mirror and very suggestive. A faint greenish sound seeped through the door jamb and took possession of the room.

"Is there not a man among you?" You towards! What good is your Menckens now?" asked the awful Voice in that Moment, whispering loudly with a shout to get around the corner. The modest little French drunk had on a radish dress, said the model who fell upstairs to the prandial couch. "You atrocious, mythopoeic extoplasm!" said the Messiah-maniac, occupied with his manual operations.

"And now," said Mrs. Glyphonie, straightening her false teeth and giving his hand a dreadful squeeze. "Good-bye, damn you, damn you, you adorable devil!" She fastened herself down the elevator shaft—and the next morning when he read the paper with his coffee and rolls, and I forgot to mention, shroddle, he walked OUT INTO THE NIGHT. It was the dining car waiter's last call, his Great Call.

—LORD HOWE DUMB.

Sir, I am moved to cogitation by the following headline in my morning paper:

HINDENBURG
COWS LEADERS
IN REICHTAG
May we not expect to see a headline like the following in some good Bourbon daily:

By the way, I have heard of Holstein cows, but never of Hindenburg cows.

Sir, We read that trees, paying no attention to the Eighteenth Commandment, manufacture their own ferment; also that they have affinities, even without the benefit of the berry. Should not the guardians of the other fellows' morals get busy?

Not marble, nor the gilded monuments
Of princes shall outlive this powerful rhyme.

—Shakespeare.

If the press of the world would adopt and persist in the high resolve that war should be no more, the clang of arms would cease from the rising of the sun to its going down, and we should fancy that at last our ears, no longer stunned by the din of the battle, might hear the morning stars singing together and all the Sons of God shouting for joy.

UNCLE ALARM ABOUT AMERICA.

From the Youngstown Vindicator.
TWO distinguished Englishmen, the Bishop of Durham and the Canon of Westminster, view things in America with more alarm than was ever sounded in the day of conventions in this land when parties pointed out each others' mistakes and their consequences. The Bishop says that America is both the most criminal and the most wealthy community in the world, and for that reason it has demonstrated the supreme folly of neglecting the moral factor in human life. The Canon says: "With all seriousness, America is degenerating from a human society into a money house. It may well mean the end of civilization. We have some conditions in this country that are bad, but instead of closing our eyes, public sentiment is loudly expressed against them, and organizations are being perfected to correct evils and work for better things. The moral factor in human life is not neglected. Never in the history of the country was such emphasis laid upon it as now. Church extension work, the erection of new houses of worship and schools, the enlargement of educational advantages, the influence of business thrown on the side of truth and honesty, a better moral tone in productions, most of which teach a wholesome lesson—all these are the thought that Americans are neglecting the moral factor in life."

These salient editors are hiding places for love letters. When the head of Lamballe was carried on a pike by the Terrorists, three secret letters from the Queen were found entangled in the hair. The "Merveilleux" bought from Sam-Mary, the public executioner, the blond locks of guillotined dandies, whereupon to embellish their own coiffures. And under the empire the famous wig-maker Michalon invented the busts that are today in every hairdresser's window.

"But the millionaires from the 'maid country' is ignorant of all this. She has decreed that worn heads are more convenient. And poof! Our Parisiennes brush aside 20 centuries of poetry to dress their hair in the style of the wild women."

SAYS FRENCH WOMEN
COPY BOB FROM U. S.

Maurice de Waleffe Decries Departure From Traditions of Hairdressing.

Correspondence of the Post-Dispatch
PARIS, Jan. 5.—Why do French women bob their hair?

Maurice de Waleffe, the noted Franco-Belgian editor, replies: "To imitate their American sisters." He recalls the aphorism of misogynist Schopenhauer: "Women are an animal with long hair and short brains." But, says M. de Waleffe, women are not cutting their hair in order to give the lie to the Frankfurt philosopher. It is because in America women don't care whether they have short brains or not.

"Short and good is their motto," he adds. "Whether it's brains or hair or life in general."

Still, thinks the editor, it's doubtful whether European women should imitate Americans. "I've been to America three times," he says. "Everything in America is short and square, shoes and chairs and emotions and business. That is because man is ruler, and he stamps everything with his own characteristics. Woman influences nothing. If she is poor, she punches a typewriter. If she is rich, she learns one fine morning that she is either a millionaire or a pauper, without having anything to do with which it shall be or knowing anything about it before hands. If she turns out to be a pauper, and is still young and pretty, she changes husbands, but her husband will tell her no more about his affairs than the previous one did. There is no such thing as a co-operative household in America. Such hand-in-hand couples as are found everywhere in France, especially among small tradespeople, would be a curiosity."

Delving Into the Arts.
"Some American women, being thus left with time on their hands, attempt to delve into the arts, but the atmosphere and the background of tradition are lacking. They visit museums and public monuments, noting the exact height of the towers of Notre Dame, or the date of Raphael's birth. But their historical notions are so vague that they confuse the Capetians with the Pharaohs. Even the older than Louis XV is to them antiquity."

"In such circumstances they burst into the fashions of Paris as the fourth century barbarians invaded the well-policed cities of Roman Gaul. They have gold, as the barbarians had iron, and so the coiffure nor the courtiere can resist them."

History of Hairdressing.
M. de Waleffe gives us something of the historical background of hairdressing. "For as hairdressing is bound up with world of memories and emotions. Our ancestors, the Patriarchal women of Rome, were attended by slaves who were obliged to be nude. A golden hairpin badly placed was promptly planted by the infuriated mistress in the slave's head. It was cruel—but it showed what importance the Roman lady attached to her coiffure."

"A council of Bishops—it was in 1605—launched an anathema against those shameless women who allowed their hair to be dressed in the slave's hair. But despite the Champagne, the famous wig-maker, ruled unopposedly over the ladies of Louis XIII's court. And, except for a brief moment under the regency when a coiffure named Frison invented the curl that bears his name today, mental hairdresses, until finally Marie Antoinette reached the limit with an arrangement of 200 'pallions' which required her to sleep in a chair on the eve of a festival, and to kneel when she rode in her carriage, hanging her head over the window."

"For us hairdressing is bound up with a world of memories and emotions. Our ancestors, the Patriarchal women of Rome, were attended by slaves who were obliged to be nude. A golden hairpin badly placed was promptly planted by the infuriated mistress in the slave's bare bosom. It was cruel—but it showed what importance the Roman lady attached to her coiffure.

A council of Bishops—it was in 1555—launched an anathema against those who allowed their hair to be dressed by a male coiffeur. But despite this, Champagne, the famous wigmaker, ruled undisputedly over the ladies of Louis XIII's court. And, except for a brief moment under the regency when a coiffeur named Prison invented the tuff that bore his name today, there were two centuries of monumental headresses, until finally Marie Antoinette reached the limit with an arrangement of 2000 papillons which required her to sleep in a chair on the eve of a festival, and to kneel when she rode in her carriage, hanging her head out the window.

These elaborate edifices were used for everything, even as a hiding place for love letters. When the head of Lamballe was carried on a pike by the Terrorists, three secret letters to the Queen were found entangled in the hair. The elegant ladies of the day—the 'Mer-villieuses'—bought from Samson, the public executioner, the blond locks of guillotined dandies, wherewith to embellish their own coiffures. And under the empire the famous wigmaker Michalon invented the wax busts that are today in every hairdresser's window.

Another Pilgrimage to Holy Land. Correspondence of the Post-Dispatch and the Chicago Daily News.

LONDON, Jan. 2.—After 900 years, England is to have another crusade to the Holy Land. With full pomp and ceremony, 100 knights and ladies of the Order of St. John of Jerusalem will start on a pilgrimage to some of the ancient shrines of the order of the Holy Land.

The Countess of Cromer, the Dowager Countess of Airlie and Countess Haig will be among the woman pilgrims, while among the men will be Viscount Galway, Lord Lamington and Maj.-Gen. Sir Percival Wilkinson. A special steamship chartered by the order will carry the pilgrims through the Mediterranean. They will embark from Venice March 7. An admiralty order of 1700 directs all ships of the navy to salute the flag of St. John, and as this order has never been cancelled it is presumed that the salute will be received during the cruise. The Order of St. John is the oldest and only survivor of the many orders founded during the crusades.

MISSOURIAN ONE OF ELEVEN SURVIVORS OF MEXICAN WAR

William F. Buckner, 98, of Paris, Later Became Gold Hunter, Stockman and Banker.

By the Associated Press.
PARIS, Mo., Jan. 21.—William F. Buckner, of Paris, one of the 11 survivors of the Mexican War, has been a soldier, gold hunter, stockman, merchant and banker.

When 17 years old he enlisted for service in the Mexican War in Company A at Paris, and was mustered in at Fort Leavenworth, Kan., under Col. Doniphan. He took part in the perilous march from Leavenworth to Santa Fe, which later was described in a Congressional address by Champ Clark as "the greatest military achievement of all time."

Buckner first fought in an engagement at Taos, N. M., then part of old Mexico. The weather was so cold, the veteran recalls, that they had to burn log houses before the battle to warm the soldiers' trigger fingers. The youth participated in several engagements, and returned to Paris after 14 months in the service.

In 1849 he joined the gold rush to California, but did not make a strike and returned home. A little later he purchased 4000 cattle, drove them overland to California, where he sold them at a huge profit. He returned to Paris in 1854 and entered the mercantile business where he conducted the largest store in town until 1871. He then entered the Paris National Bank as a bookkeeper, later becoming president. He retired in 1912.

Buckner was born in 1828 in Caroline County, Virginia. He did not fight in the Civil War, but obtained a substitute. "My conscience would not permit me to fight against my people," he said. He will celebrate his ninety-eighth birthday Jan. 27.

OBSERVER TO TOUR WORLD IN INTERESTS OF RADIO

Plans for International Broadcasting Tests Next Week Now Complete.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—With the departure of two official observers who will tune in from specially chosen vantage points outside this country, plans for the international radio broadcasting tests next week were completed today by the Radio Week Committee.

One of the observers, Paul McGuinness, sailed today on the liner Franconia on a tour of the world in the interests of radio. While the tests are on he will be passing through the Panama Canal, from which point he will study the effect of the equatorial static on radio waves from all parts of the globe. The other is Frank Tower of Boston, who left today for Bermuda, where he will make similar observations.

The complete co-operation of broadcasters in virtually the entire radio world has been assured for the tests, Arthur Lynch, head of the Test Committee for radio week, told members of a special subcommittee of radio manufacturers, at a dinner at the McAlpin Hotel.

Broadcasting stations in more than 15 countries have promised to participate, Lynch said, while three overseas representatives of the committee are busy arranging the final details of the test. Listening posts will be maintained throughout the United States.

WOMEN VOTERS HERE AGAINST EQUAL RIGHTS AMENDMENT

The St. Louis League of Women Voters has expressed itself in a prepared statement as opposed to a proposed amendment to the Federal Constitution, offered by the National Women's Party, providing for absolute equality for men and women.

The local organization contends that the amendment, known as the Lucretia Mott Amendment, would tend to defeat the purpose of real equality and inflict hardships and inequalities in the law affecting men and women, as such, are so complicated in character that only specific legislation can reach them effectively," says the statement.

Specific correction of state laws and not blanket legislation is the proper method of bringing about necessary legal reforms, declares the statement. The annual convention of the National League of Women Voters will be held here April 14 to 21.

LIFE TERM GIVEN THIRD YOUTH FOR GROGAN MURDER

Medford Wood Convicted by Jury in Circuit Judge Frey's Court in 50 Minutes' Deliberation.

WAS EXCULPATED BY ONE OF GANG

Frank Bird, Also Under Sentence, Said Defendant Had No Part in Holdup and Killing.

A verdict of guilty of first-degree murder, carrying with it a sentence of life imprisonment, was returned this afternoon against Medford Wood, who was tried for the murder of Patrolman John H. Grogan, following a holdup, July 3 last.

The verdict was returned at 3:20 p. m. by a jury in Circuit Judge Frey's court. The jury had been deliberating from 2:30 o'clock.

Wood was the third youth to be tried, convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment for the murder. In each case the State has asked for the death penalty. The others were Frank Bird and Leo Sproul.

Bird appeared today as a witness for Wood. When asked about the personnel of the robbery party, he said:

"There were five, including myself and Maurice O'Flaherty. The three others are not the ones who were arrested. They are all walking the streets today."

He refused at first to answer a question as to the names of the three, then, when the court ordered him to answer, he gave three names which have not appeared in the case hitherto.

Exculpates Leo Sproul. He said Leo Sproul, who was convicted last week and sentenced to life imprisonment, on testimony even stronger than that given against Bird, was not present.

O'Flaherty has testified in the Bird and Sproul trials, and he testified yesterday against Wood, that those taking part in the robbery were himself, Bird, Sproul, Wood and James Widmer, who is still to be tried.

Bird said he carried a revolver, but did not use it, and that O'Flaherty had a revolver and did fire it. O'Flaherty, in his testimony, has said that he and Sproul were the unarmed members of the party.

Bird was asked about the testimony of his uncle and aunt, that he was suffering from amnesia on the day of the robbery. He said the testimony was not true, but that he had had, at other times, such attacks as they described.

When asked if he killed Harvey Hammett, who was shot while trying to help Grogan capture the robbers, Bird said he did not remember, although he had testified previously that he did not fire his weapon.

Sproul Refuses to Testify. Sproul was called to the stand as a defense witness, but refused to testify on the ground that he might incriminate himself. His lawyer has not announced whether he will appeal from his conviction.

Bird has waived the right of appeal, agreeing to accept his life term, and the Hammett murder indictment against him has been dismissed.

Wood did not take the witness stand in his own behalf. He interrupted O'Flaherty's testimony yesterday with the cry, "You're a liar!"

Ralph M. Doyle, an employee of the Collins Printing Co., in whose shop the robbery occurred, was the only witness who identified Wood, aside from O'Flaherty.

The Misses Sybil and Stella Grogan, sisters of the dead policeman, are attending the trial. They also attended the two previous trials.

THREE MEN CHARGED WITH USING MAILS TO DEFRAUD

Indictment of C. A. Lich and L. E. Miller, Lawyers, and James Edelen Disposed.

An indictment charging use of the mails to defraud has been returned here against Charles A. Lich and Louis E. Miller, lawyers, with offices in the Chemical Building, and James Edelen, a former private detective, it was learned today, with the announcement of the arrest of Edelen at Miami, Fla., by Postoffice Inspectors Burt and Wasson.

The true bill was voted a month ago upon testimony of Henry Roeder, grocer, who charged the three had defrauded him of a grocery and tenement building at 912 Montgomery street, valued at $3500. He declared Edelen got control of the property by obtaining a power of attorney and then sold the property to Lich for less than its value. Bonds for the defendants have been set at $5000.

WILDA BENNETT SAYS WEDDING ANNOUNCEMENT WAS A JOKE
 "But That Doesn't Mean We Won't Be Married," Actress Declares of Poppy de Albreau.
 NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—Wilda Bennett, actress, admitted today the announcement of her marriage to Poppy de Albreau, cabaret dancer, had been made "just as a joke." The story, she said, had been started by a friend, and when Texas Guinan, night club hostess, asked them about it a cabaret Monday night, they decided to "carry out the joke."

 "But that doesn't mean we won't be married," said Miss Bennett.

Asked about Charles E. Frey, turfman, whose wife recently won a judgment of $27,500 against Miss Bennett for alienation of affections, the actress said: "Oh, that was all over at the time of the suit."
 Frey was at the night club when the "marriage announcement" was made, but he said afterwards that he believed it was "just fooling."

LIGGETT & MYERS PAYS STOCK DIVIDEND

10 Per Cent Announced by Concern Is in Addition to Regular Payments.

A stock dividend of 10 per cent upon its $54,000 of outstanding class A and class B common stock was declared yesterday by Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co. Class A stock of the company was quoted upon the market yesterday at 9 1/2, and class B at 9 1/4, although the par value of each is only $25. The dividend is payable in class B stock.

The stock dividend was in addition to the regular quarterly dividend of 75 cents a share, or 3 per cent, and to an extra dividend of $1 a share, or 4 per cent.

The accompanying statement sent to stockholders showed that the company, which has a capitalization of $1,160,000, had a net profit during 1925 of $1,028,474. Net profit during 1924 was $1,714,196, upon which the company paid an income tax of $1,787,088, the second largest paid in the St. Louis district, International Shoe Co. having led the list.

Liggett & Myers, whose factory is at 4241 Polson avenue, at this time a year ago also declared a 4 per cent dividend on its common stock, in addition to the regular quarterly dividend of 3 per cent.

FINED $500 FOR THROWING BRICK THROUGH WINDOW Man Denied Hurling Missile That Narrowly Missed Infant in Mother's Arms.
 Carl Bock, 39 years old, 2810 Wisconsin avenue, was fined $500 in police court today, when Judge Rosecan found him guilty of throwing a brick through a window where Mrs. Anna Teel sat with her 6-months-old baby in her arms.

Mrs. Teel testified that on Jan. 1 she sat in the window of her home at 213 Russell avenue and Rock, whom she did not know, passed by and threw a brick, smashing the pane and narrowly missing the infant in her arms. Her father and husband caught Bock after chasing him a block, and having arrested him, they testified that Bock said he had been drinking and that a companion had suggested the brick-throwing stunt.

Bock, on the stand, denied having thrown the brick. Judge Rosecan, in passing sentence, said: "You are the most guilty man I have ever seen. It takes a brave man to throw a brick at a baby, and you should be given a Distinguished Cross."

IMPOSING MONUMENT IN PARIS FOR LAFAYETTE ESCADRILLE
 200 Feet Wide, It Will Contain a Crypt in Which Bodies of 65 Americans Will be Interred.
 Copyright, 1926, by the Press and Publisher Publishing Co., New York World and Post-Dispatch.

PARIS, Jan. 21.—The Lafayette Escadrille will have a monument at the end of one of the imposing alleys in St. Cloud Park. For a background it will have a forest, while in front a lake stretches. The monument will be in the form of an arch of triumph, 75 feet high and flanked with colonnades giving it a total width of 200 feet. Its size will make it the most imposing thing of its kind on the St. Cloud Hills above the Seine.

In a crypt under the arch will lie the bodies of 65 Americans of the Escadrille who were killed. William Nelson Cromwell formed a foundation to maintain the monument under the auspices of the Association of Beaux Arts Graduates, himself subscribing $25,000 toward the fund. The memorial will be located on the usual route for American tourists visiting Paris.

NEWTON ASSAILS MELLON PLAN FOR ALIEN PROPERTY

Demands Immediate Return of Holdings, or Their Full Value, in Speech in the House.

HE ASSERTS TREATY TERMS ARE VIOLATED

Arraigns Custodian's Office, Declaring Sale of Patents Tantamount to Confiscation.

Post-Dispatch Bureau.
20-23 Wyatt Bldg.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—Asserting that the action of the Government in seizing alien property during the war was "in flagrant violation of our sacred treaty obligations which have existed for more than 130 years," Representative Cleveland Newton (Rep.) of St. Louis, in a prepared speech, delivered on the floor of the House yesterday afternoon, criticized the plan recently offered by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon for the settlement of the alien property question and demanded the immediate return of the property, or its full equivalent, to its owners.

Newton estimated that property valued at a billion dollars was seized from German private citizens. He added that all of this, except what has been "confiscated or wasted," and except the "paltry sum" returned under the Winslow Act, is still being held by the alien property custodian.

Sold for $50 a Patent.

"It may be contended," said Newton, "that we have thus far not confiscated the property of German nationals but in reply I point to the conduct of the custodian in dealing with patents, trademarks and copyrights owned by German citizens and seized by the custodian. There were 6475 of these properties with an estimated value of approximately $500,000,000.

"These entire properties were sold out by the Custodian for $250,000, or an average of less than $30 for each patent, trademark and copyright. And this paltry sum cannot be paid to the owners of these properties because it is impossible to pro-rate the amount according to the values of the various properties.

"If this is not confiscation, what is it? And, worst of all, it is not confiscation for the benefit of the government but to satisfy the greed and avarice of certain of the unscrupulous in this country.

"Instead of the alien property custodian conducting himself as a trustee regarding as sacred and preserving the trusts under him, he played rather the part of an auctioneer, and for the most part he was even worse than that, selling the properties of his wards at private sale without even giving the public an opportunity to bid to their real value. This was especially true in the case of the Chemical patents."

"Horrible" Conduct.

Newton declared that when Congress passed the alien property act it never dreamed that this "horrible" conduct of the custodian's office would be possible.

"Surely," he said, "no one can contend that the conduct of the custodian in depriving the subjects of Germany of their patents, trademarks and copyrights without compensating the owners therefor, is in harmony with the pledge of President Wilson that this Government would under no circumstances, take advantage of a state of war to seize their property, but that it would scrupulously respect all the private rights of citizens of foreign states.

"A custodian means a keeper, a trustee who stands in the place of the owner, preserves his property and protects his rights thereunder. Can such a definition be harmonized with the conduct of the alien property custodian in dealing with the trademarks, copyrights and patents?"

"To my mind the most regrettable spectacle connected with this World War was exhibited by him when, under oath to discharge a sacred trust, he sold valuable properties worth hundreds of millions of dollars, for himself as trustee for the owners, to himself as the head of a corporation, conceived and designed to deprive the owners of these valuable properties, for a consideration so paltry as to amount to confiscation, not only because of its utter inadequacy, but because it cannot be apportioned and paid to the owners of such properties; and, when the injustice had been perpetrated and its object accomplished, he abandoned his position as the protector of his wards and took charge as president of the corporation which had acquired title to the properties.

Not the Only Example.
"Nor does our handling of trademarks, copyrights and patents offer our only example of confiscation. The holding of this alien property, in violation of our treaty obligation and thus depriving its owners of the use of their property and incomes which they would have received for a period of more than seven years, is also tantamount to confiscation.

"Furthermore, the suggestion of the Secretary of the Treasury, in his plan for the disposal of alien property, that the $31,000,000 income collected from alien property held by him in the Treasury, should be appropriated and used for the payment of American claims threatens confiscation. This vast sum of money is not ours to appropriate.

"It is held in trust. It belongs to the aliens from whose property it was collected, and to appropriate it and use it for any other purpose would be confiscation."

Newton said that he was disappointed by the use of the word "substantial" in Secretary Mellon's recommendation that the "property or its substantial equivalent" should be returned.

"Why not," he demanded, "return the property where possible and otherwise the equivalent of the property seized, because I fear that we can not do less with honor? Why not make the law for the return explicit and why leave a loophole through which flagrant abuses may be practiced?"

May Not See Self on Screen.
Correspondence of the Post-Dispatch and Chicago Daily News.
BERLIN, Jan. 20.—In a new film, "The Circus Princess," which is to consideration for the feelings of more than 25,000,000 of our citizens who come from German stock—citizens who have contributed so much toward the development and defense of our country—should we not for their sake do justice to their kinsmen on the other side?"

be shown soon for the first time, the leading role is played by the producer's daughter, Tilly Feindt. Miss Feindt, though only 16 years old, is an excellent actress. German movie laws forbid the entrance of children under 18 into movie theaters, except to see films specially produced for children. The question has arisen whether Miss Feindt is to be permitted to witness herself on the screen.

PACKARD service facilities have quadrupled in four years.

Factory supervised standards are now nationally established. And like Packard cars this service is the development of a quarter century of experience.

Packard service is uniform, in rushing metropolis or quiet county seat. Wherever he may be, the Packard owner knows that his car—whether Six or Eight—can be given attention of standard excellence, at standard charges for both material and time.

Packard service is one of the reasons why 98 out of every 100 of those who have bought Packard cars during the past five years still own Packard cars.

U. R. CONDUCTORS MOVED TO EXPEDITE EMPTYING CARS

Fare Booths Placed Three Seats Forward in Experiments on Two Lines.

As an experiment in facilitating the unloading of street cars by the rear-exit system, the United Railways is using five cars on the Broadway line and one on the Park equipped with a new arrangement of the conductor's booth. Instead of being at the rear end of the right-hand side, as in other cars of this type, the booths in these cars have been moved three seats forward. Each booth occupies the place of one seat and space formerly occupied in the rear has been given over to seating purposes. The arrangement provides for passengers after they have paid their fares and passed the conductor.

Another innovation being experimented with on 20 narrow, old cars on various lines, partly to facilitate unloading under the rear-exit plan, is the part use of longitudinal seats. Half the length on one side of each car, at the rear, has been equipped with such a seat, and the half on the other side, at the front, also.

United Railways officials regard the rear-exit system, which has been in force on all city lines for several weeks, as still in trial. They have received numerous letters, some condemning, others approving the system.

WORK ON NEW COURTHOUSE SITE TO BE STARTED SOON

Borings Will Be Made to Ascertain Facts Necessary Before Excavation Can Begin.

First work on the site of the new $4,000,000 Courthouse, facing the projected Memorial Plaza, will begin in a few days. President Kinsey of the Board of Public Service announced today.

It will be the task of boring into the earth to determine the character of the underlying material—how much earth, how much rock and what kind. This information is necessary to determine the nature and extent of the foundation and whether piers or caissons shall be used to support the towering, monumental structure.

The site is the lot formerly holding the old city hall, owned by the city and occupying all but the western strip of the block, now privately owned but to be acquired as part of the plaza. This will avoid any legal question as to use of the land.

The Memorial Plaza Commission, comprising architects and engineers, has been working on building plans for several months and may make them public in about two weeks.

BILL TO REPAY ALDERMAN $1000 FOR STREET LIGHTS

Similar Measure With Reference to Chippewa-Broadway Business Men's Body Approved.

A bill appropriating $1000 to reimburse Alderman Kraleman of the Twenty-second Ward for paying for installation of street lights on Maffitt place, from Euclid avenue to Kingshighway boulevard, was approved by the Board of Estimate and Apportionment today.

A similar bill to reimburse the Chippewa-Broadway Business Men's Association for lights installed on Twelfth, Broadway, Chippewa street and Jefferson avenue, also was reported back favorably.

A third proposed ordinance for $12,000 from bond issue funds for surveys for the law department on street widening projects was also approved. Several other ordinances for minor improvements were returned to President Kinsey of the Board of Public Service who had failed to include a provision for a per cent overhead on the work.

SETS ASIDE FINE REPORTED THREATENED IN ADANCE

Judge Gayer Acts on Testimony Concerning Alleged Remarks of Police Judge Beck.

Herbert Jacobs, of 4024 Lindell boulevard won an appeal in Judge Gayer's Court of Criminal Correction today from a $50 traffic fine which he testified, Police Judge Beck had assessed after announcing, "I'll tell you ahead of time that I'm going to fine all you speeders who plead 'not guilty' $50 and costs."

"Was this man actually going 34 miles an hour, as charged?" Judge Gayer asked the prosecuting witness, Motor Cycle Policeman Ferber.

"Yes," replied the policeman. "I'm working on a salary, not on a commission basis."

"You won't last long on any basis if you don't talk better than that in this court," remarked Judge Gayer. "I want to teach you something. Defendant is discharged."

Appeal day brought 72 defendants into Judge Gayer's court. By the noon recess three had been discharged, seven fines reduced, nine cases dismissed for want of prosecution, and only one Police Court sentence sustained.

KEY GONE, JURY LOCKED UP FORTY MINUTES OVERTIME

Members Tell Stories Till Judge Rosskopf's Bailiff Borrows Means to Free Them.

Twelve jurors who were locked in Circuit Judge Rosskopf's jury room for 40 minutes yesterday while a deputy was looking for a key to release them, spent the time by telling stories.

They had been deliberating on a damage suit and when they reached a verdict at 10:40 p. m. signified that fact by sounding the buzzer. But Deputy Sheriff Sam Thompson had sent his key to a locksmith for a duplicate and it had not been returned. The janitor, it was found, had left the building with his key.

Finally Judge Rosskopf suggested that Circuit Judge Falkenhainer's bailiff might have a key. He did, and the jurors were released.

HUGHES ACCEPTS OIL POST

By the Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 21.—Employment of Charles Evans Hughes, former Secretary of State, to represent the oil industry in hearings before the Federal Oil Conservation Board, is announced at the convention of the American Petroleum Institute. The selection of the former Secretary as counsel marks an important step by the industry, its leaders said, in relations with the Federal Oil Conservation Board. The appointment, as expressed in a letter of acceptance from Hughes, made public by the board, is based on the understanding of a cordial and thorough-going co-operation with the Federal board.

"It seems strange," Hughes' letter said, "that such an impartial inquiry, conducted by men so eminently competent and disinterested as are the members of the Federal Oil Conservation Board, should be welcomed so that all the exigencies of the industry and all possible methods of promoting the economical production and use of oil may be carefully considered."

NEW YORK GIVES UP HOPE OF MAKING A TRADE WITH THE BROWNS

Phil Ball Said To Have Vetoed Proposed Trades

Huggins Balked in Effort to Get Bucket of Coal for Two Buckets of Ashes.

YANKEES BUY ADAMS

Young Infielder Played Second in Part of World Series Game for Senators.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—There probably will be no deal tonight between the Yankees and the St. Louis Browns.

All last week Miller Huggins, manager of the Yankees, and George Sisler, leader of the Browns, talked in Miami, Fla., and finally arranged a deal. No doubt would have strengthened both clubs. Everything was settled, as far as the two managers were concerned, and the much talked about and long discussed deal with the Browns appeared ready to be announced to the public.

Ed Barrow, business manager of the Yankees, received a telegram from Huggins on Monday, stating that the deal with the Browns had been arranged and that the deal was already beginning to shine for a real good season for the Yankees.

At the same time Sisler sent a telegram to Phil Ball, owner of the St. Louis club, stating that players were going to the Yankees and the New York players who would become members of the Browns.

Ball turned down Sisler, and finally turned Sisler and told his manager to call off the deal. This another good Yankee trade was tossed recklessly into the waste basket, just because Ball would not trade a bucket of coal for two buckets of ashes.

Huggins wants a certain player on his ball club for next season, and he is going to get him somehow from the Browns. As soon as Sisler informed him that Ball refused to sanction the deal, Huggins jumped on him with a proposition that may be more acceptable to the Browns.

Neither Huggins nor Barrow would reveal the name of any of the players who will be involved in the deal with the Browns. It is materialized, and Sisler is certain that that is that Aaron Ward will not be with the Yankees next season. He is one of the players who has been mentioned in the St. Louis trade, and yesterday the Yankees bought Spencer Adams, second baseman, from the Senators at a price not made public.

Adams in Last World Series. Adams was signed by the Brooklyn club several years ago, but appeared to be too light and inexperienced for big league baseball at that time. He drifted up to the Pacific Coast League and last season came up to the American League as a member of the Senators. He played in part of one of the world's series games against the Pirates. He is an exceptional good fielder and a fair hitter.

With the acquisition of Adams, Huggins will have more material to trade and the chances of the Yankees putting over a deal appear brighter now than they were before they bought Adams.

If Ward goes to the Browns, Adams may get a chance to start at second base for the Yankees next season. If he can hit, there is no question of his winning a regular job with the New York club. But it is difficult to make a deal with St. Louis, because Phil Ball refuses to take any lead items which always handicaps Moe Huggins.

COBB DISCUSSES THE FREAK BALL

Chapter XVII in Ty's Life Story As Told by Himself

(Copyright 1925.)

Did it ever occur to you fans who have watched baseball for 20 years or more that the game runs in cycles? Did you ever notice that the points most strongly stressed a few years ago have passed out and are now out of style?

The struggle to keep up with the styles or fads in playing baseball is almost as constant as that of the ladies in finding out what is being worn in Paris.

For example: The game is right now in the slugging cycle. Every batter is trying to make home runs. A few years ago it was the place hit. But to be in the limelight these days a hitter must make home runs and lots of them. A few years ago a batter would have been fined for swinging like they do nowadays.

The next cycle, I think, will be one of psychology. I can see it coming on—but that is ahead of my story, a subject that I will take up later.

The first cycle that I remember was the overhand pitching. It was believed that no man could possibly make his mark unless he had a perfect overhand motion, like that of Bill Donovan or Christy Mathewson. But that idea was knocked sky high by the underhand pitching of men like Carl Mays.

The next cycle was when the whole game went crazy over the idea of the hit and run, the perfecting of hitting behind the runner and so on. Then came a cycle of base stealing.

Baseball "Inventors." To me the most interesting because of its history nature was the great cycle of the famous trick balls. Every pitcher in the land was sitting up at night thinking up ways of doing tricky things to the batters. This came right on the heels of the ball-batting over the spitball. Many of those pitchers, too, were really clever inventors. They got away with the most astonishing tricks, some of which have not been solved or exposed to this day.

A rule was adopted to do away with all the trick pitching, but it still crops out in spots. Every once in a while we catch a fellow pulling some freak stunts. Much of it has never been exposed.

For instance, nobody knows to this day—not even his own manager and the coaches—what it was that Edie Ciootte did to a ball to make it sail in that peculiar, wavy way so completely puzzling to batters.

The most prominent of the trick balls were the emery ball, the knuckle ball and the raised-ball; there were others, though.

The cycle of the freak pitching was at its height soon after I came in—just when I was beginning to get up among the leaders as a batter.

In New York one day I was surprised to learn that not one of the players nor the owners of the present American League team, the Yanks, was familiar with slight-of-hand work of Russell Ford, former New York pitcher, that upset the whole league for two seasons.

Ford's Mystery Ball. Ford, a most intelligent fellow, had an odd delivery that was almost unhittable. He had no overhand swing that was noticeably good and his form was not up to that of very great pitchers. Still, he would send a ball up at the batter that would suddenly dart away. It was almost impossible to get hold of it. We tried every way we knew of finding his secret, but to no avail. We knew that he did something unusual to the ball, but we couldn't get a clue. We called it the emery ball because we often found a side of it roughed up as if rubbed with emery paper. But

Schaefer Leads Hoppe in 18.2 Special Match

Title-Holder Scores 557 Points to 421 for Former Balkline Champion.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—Jake Schaefer made his first appearance here yesterday since becoming champion of the world at 18.2 balkline billiards. In the opening block of a 1200-point match with Willie Hoppe, Schaefer took the lead, 300 to 121, in six innings. Hoppe won the night game, 500-237, making the total score, Schaefer 557, Hoppe 421.

Unusual interest attached Schaefer's appearance here owing to his performance in the recent title match in Chicago with Edouard Horemans, when he had a grand average of 93% for 1500 points.

Although in yesterday's play he did not accomplish anything that approached these marks, Schaefer showed clearly he is a real champion. He won the bank in the opening block and proceeded to click off 96 before he missed a difficult one-cushion attempt. This was his highest run of the afternoon. Most of the time he kept the cue ball at the lower end of the table and it was only occasionally that he was compelled to drive for position.

The champion followed his initial effort with a cluster of 15, then 83, 45, 19 and an unfinished 42. In the whole 200 points he resorted to the mass less than a dozen times and was compelled to drive around the table only about an equal number of times.

Hoppe plays closer game. Hoppe got off to a poor start, missing on a two-cushion attempt after scoring one on his first turn. He followed with a collection of 78 in his second inning, then turned in two runs of 20 each and a 2. In gathering his cluster of 73, Hoppe executed the most brilliant shot of the afternoon. All he had to do was line up along the side rail, so a mass or cushion first attempt was impossible. He played a kiss shot, timed it marvelous precision, that scored in the center of the table, more than two feet from where the object ball had started on his way.

In watching the two it appeared as if Hoppe played much the "closer" game. He showed a trifle more delicacy in keeping the cue ball "under a hat." But Schaefer's wonderful skill in always gathering the balls in such position that he seldom had a shot that looked really difficult more than counterbalanced this. Both a masters the rail nurse and play this style of game in preference to open-table play, at which Horemans is generally acknowledged to be supreme.

Hoppe played at his best in the night game. The former champion started with a run of 30, and in the third inning made a run of 120 before he missed a difficult shot. He finished his 200 in six innings and averaged 97%.

Schaefer's high run was 118. The match will be completed today.

CITY WRESTLING BILL REPORTED FAVORABLY Alderman Lange's bill fixing a license fee of $500 a year for wrestling promoters was reported out favorably by the Legislative Committee of the Board of Aldermen today and will come before the board tomorrow for a reading.

Alderman Odell and Eilers opposed the favorable report on the bill, saying that they favored a tax of $1000. Alderman Lange, Wetzel, Schwartz and W. E. Niederwieser voted in favor of the bill.

The bill does not attempt to regulate wrestling or provide penalties for hippodrome or frame-up matches, where wrestlers divide vicinities until they stand up the public for a "grudge" match, the purpose is merely to provide revenue.

LESCHIN WINS OVER DEARDORFF, 100-94 Sam Leschin defeated Gene Deardorff, 100 to 94, in a special three-cushion match completed at Peterson's last night. Leschin won the final block, 54 to 44 in 63 innings. The match lasted 117 innings. The winner had an average of 85 and the loser 80. Both players had high runs of six.

Bob Westhead and Ed Zamroz met in a 60-point match tonight in the first of a series of matches to decide the next opponent for Dr. Macklin for the city amateur title.

August Kleischer defeated Otto Reisel, 50 to 29 and 50 to 29, in National Three-Cushion League matches at Philadelphia.

Cups Capulet scored a double triumph over Johnny Layton, 50 to 25 and 50 to 29, in Three-Cushion League title.

TODAY'S INDEX

JOINTMEN TAILORS VOTE TO PER CENT FOR STRIKE FUND
Three hundred members of the Journeymen Tailors' Union No. 250 held their places of employment at noon yesterday and in a meeting voted a 10 per cent assessment of their earnings between now and March 15, to create a "strike fund." The walkout was a gesture, according to Oscar Chorkinsky, business agent of the union, in answer to rumors that employers may attempt to revise the present contract of the journeymen.

Chorkinsky stated that the demonstration was carried out with 100 per cent efficiency, with every member of the union attending the meeting. "It shows," he said, "that if the occasion demanded there would be no difficulty in organizing a very effective strike. The union will resist any attempt to revise wage rates or labor conditions between now and March 15, when most of the present contracts expire."

The minimum wage of journeymen tailors is now $12.50 an hour, and the hours are from 4 to 4:40 p.m. Twenty-two tailoring firms in the city employ them. St. Louis, secretary of the Master Tailors' Association, representing the employers, denied that any change in wages or working conditions was contemplated.

DEFENSE SOCIETY DROPS CHARGES AGAINST ARMY MAN

Lieutenant-Colonel Haskell Pennell, who was charged with the murder of a woman in the city, has been dropped from the list of members of the American Defense Society. The society, which was organized to support the government in its war effort, has decided to drop the charges against Pennell because of his alleged involvement in the murder.

GLEE CLUB'S FOREIGN TOUR BARRED BECAUSE OF JAZZ

The Associated Press. Berkeley, Cal., Jan. 21.—The Associated Students' Executive Committee last night rejected a proposal to sanction the annual trip abroad of the University of California Glee Club, on the ground that the club's program included jazz and vaudeville.

RAIL MEN SEEK INCREASE

Clerks, Freight Handlers and Station Workers Want Boost. CINCINNATI, O., Jan. 21.—Railroads will be asked to grant wage increases ranging from 10 to 10 1/2 cents an hour for 250,000 railway clerks, freight handlers and station employees, it was announced last night at a meeting of general chairmen of the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, Freight Handlers, Express and Station Employees. Approximately 100,000 of the 250,000 employees are employed by the Great Western Railway.

NEGRO ADMITS 3 KILLINGS

Special to the Post-Dispatch. WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—A Washington regulation barring horse-drawn vehicles from the city streets has been challenged in the House by Representative Nelson (Dem.) of Missouri, as infringing the sale of horses throughout the country. He declared the ban was unworkable and described the regulation as a "horrible anomaly."

OLD CHIMES TO PEAL AGAIN

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 21.—The chimes of St. Louis Cathedral, silent for a generation, will be heard again. Seven bells in the cathedral towers hang over the site of an altar, among the oldest used continuously in Christian worship in this hemisphere. The great bell in the central tower, which will sound the hours, bears this inscription:

"Brave Louisianians, this bell whose name is Victory, was cast in commemoration of the Glorious Eighth of January, 1815."

The bell was hung at the time the name of the Place d'Armes was changed to Jackson Square, in honor of Gen. Andrew Jackson's victory at Chalmette. Two small bells, to tinkle the quarter hours, are dated 1851, and the bells of the chimes, to be rung at midnight mass, weddings, communions and other special occasions, number three.

MURDER FUGITIVE TRAILED FOR MONTH TAKEN IN HOME

Milas Randol, Wanted in Illinois for slaying School Teacher, Taken at Dutchtown, Mo.

CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo., Jan. 21.—Milas Randol, 48 years old, sought by authorities of three states for the slaying of a school teacher at Wolf Lake, Ill., two years ago, was captured by two Scott County officers at Dutchtown, 10 miles southwest of Cape Girardeau, late yesterday.

Trapped in his home while his wife was trimming his hair, Randol, for whom a reward has been offered, and who had threatened that he wouldn't be taken alive, surrendered without resistance. Two revolvers were taken from the alleged slayer and a loaded shotgun was found in the room.

The capture was made by Deputy Sheriff J. H. Wilkerson, a former railroad detective, and Special Officer Lester Rhodes. They had trailed Randol for nearly a month. Randol came to this vicinity from Illinois after the slaying of Oscar Trainer, a school teacher, during a fight at a dance there in November, 1924. Two brothers, Logan and Harrison, who participated in the fight, were later arrested and are serving terms in the penitentiary. Logan, a life sentence and Harrison, 25 years. The brothers testified in their trials that Milas fired the fatal shot.

WOMAN'S FAITH IN FORTUNE TELLER DISCLOSED IN COURT

Mrs. May Hildreth Testifies to Obtaining Information About Husband From One of Them.

When a fortune teller told Mrs. May Hildreth of 2118 North Eleventh street that her husband, Jack, 35 years old, was associating with other women, she believed him, she testified before Judge Gayer in Court of Criminal Correction yesterday. Hildreth was charged with failure to support his wife. Mrs. Hildreth testified the trouble started after her visit to the wise one, who, she said, promised to keep her husband home on Saturday nights upon payment of $35. He would restore her health for an additional $20. Mrs. Hildreth testified, "I wouldn't give her the money for this, so she said she would poison me," Hildreth said. "Then I quit eating at home."

The case was continued until Tuesday, after Mr. and Mrs. Hildreth promised to forget their differences.

As they were leaving the courtroom Judge Hildreth advised Hildreth to stay home on Saturday nights and warned Mrs. Hildreth against fortune tellers.

Conference on Race Relations. Eighty-two delegates, both Negro and white, attended the Missouri State Conference on Race Relations yesterday afternoon at the Public Library. The delegates represented the religious, educational and social organizations of 12 Missouri communities. Dr. W. W. Alexander of Atlanta, Ga., chairman of the Inter-Racial Commission of the Federal Council of Churches, urged abandonment of press propaganda and of special school and university courses on the race problem. Dr.

Alexander suggested that the true solution for the question was to be found in constant personal association between the two races in daily life.

About the Hardware on your Automobile

OF INTEREST to MOTORISTS AUTOMOBILE SALES AGENTS and AUTOMOBILE MANUFACTURERS

THAT'S a nice new car of yours—good looking all the way from the front bumper to the tail lamp.

The works don't show, of course, but the things you can see—the paint job, the upholstery, the plate glass and the hardware—are the last word in good looks.

The paint has got to wear. The upholstery must be proof against a million rubs. The hardware looks to be up to those standards. But will it fight for its looks? Will it stand off rain, dampness, dust and moist hands?

It will if it is solid BRASS or BRONZE hardware. BRASS and BRONZE do not rust.

Queer, isn't it, how quickly a car gets a shabby look just from rusty, spotty hardware!

Candidly, we don't know of one good reason why hardware on good cars should ever be the kind of hardware that rusts. Does anyone?

Lee Fetty (at left) and John McNeill (right) are credited with saving 19 lives, including their own, when they were trapped in the mine at Farmington, W. After the explosion Fetty and McNeill led the others to an old stable in the mine where they built a barricade of baled hay, which kept out the poison mine damp until they were rescued. They are shown with their families and a group of the rescuers.

THE EFFICIENCY EXPERT AT HOME

THE FILIBUSTER
MINORITY is ruling. Our Senators are drooling and spilling words that do not mean a thing; When votes they cannot muster They start a filibuster And with old chestnuts make the welkin ring.

They simply get together And talk about the weather. Or, ships and sealing wax and other things; When one is getting tired Some other guy inspired Will give a talk on cabbages and kings.

Instead of talking piffle That doesn't cause a ruffle In any of their legislative plans, If members of the Senate Would talk about the pennant, It might prove interesting to the fans.

TOO TRUE.
Talking against time is a great indoor sport. But is no pastime for a short-winded bird.

"House Passes $50,000 Arms Appropriation."
In other words, the House will foot the bill for arms conference.

"Report Sinking of Ocean Bed."
Probably needs a new set of springs.

Gov. Baker proposes a 10 per cent amusement tax. What price politics?

In view of the prevailing prices for theater tickets we can't see where an additional 10 per cent added by the State would add anything to the gaiety of the occasion.

"Says Bad Liquor Is Driving U. S. to Prohibition Fold."
Does this mean that you've got to go to the pros for good liquor?

Ted Winkler's nose was broken in the Iowa State basketball game, but the Bears managed to nose them out.

See where Wallie Pipp has been sent to the Cincinnati Reds for further seasoning.

A veteran major leaguer may be down, but he is never out until Garry Herrmann has counted 10 on him.

Garry seems to have a special yen for Yankees. He flagged Carl Mays on his way to the sticks.

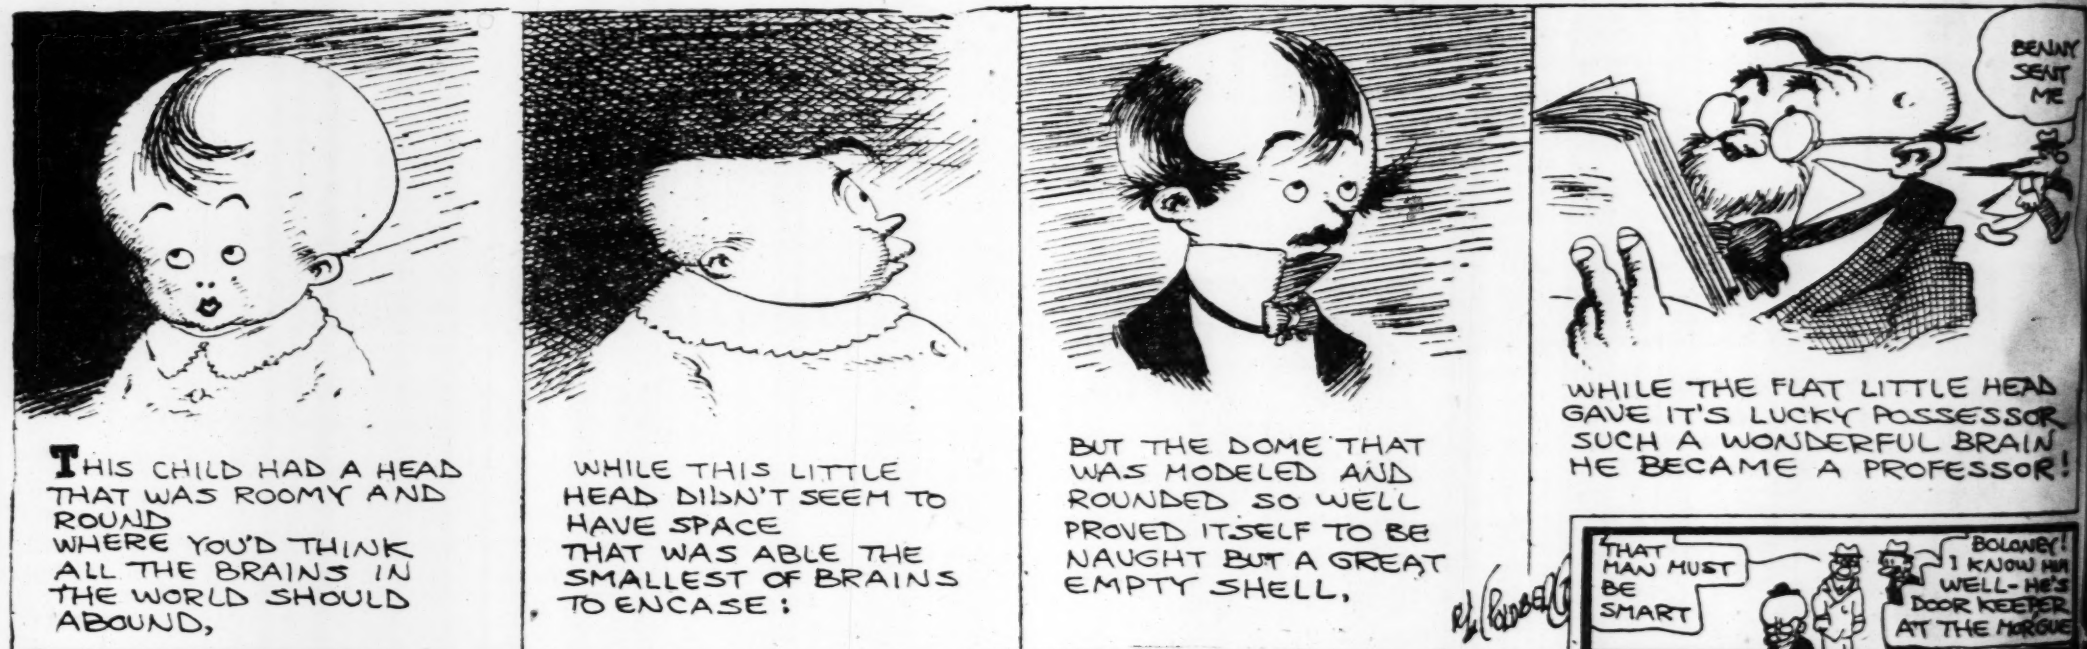

Gov. Al Smith announces that he will retire at the end of his term and go into business. Well, business is business as the feller says.

Wouldn't be surprised to see Al go in for big business, to wit: That of taking over the U. S. Government frinstitute.
